RE: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

[redacted], Texas, telephone numbers [redacted] and [redacted] furnished the following information to Special Agent [redacted] on September 9, 1978:

[redacted] stated that she wanted to furnish information concerning a [redacted], who resided at [redacted] Dallas, Texas, until his death in 1964. She stated that [redacted] who was the same approximate age as Jack Ruby, and Jack Ruby were close personal friends. She related that the [redacted] family and the Rubenstein (phonetic) family (Jack Ruby's parents) moved from Poland to the United States together. These families moved to New York and then to Chicago with [redacted] and Jack Ruby eventually both living in Dallas, Texas.

[redacted] advised that she and her husband first met [redacted] in 1959, [redacted] Dallas, Texas. [redacted] The information that she is now providing was related to her by her mother and father and to some extent sets forth what she personally observed when she visited [redacted] residence.

Jack Ruby came to [redacted] residence numerous times between 1960 and 1963 [redacted] At one time, [redacted] wanted Jack Ruby to move in with him [redacted]

[redacted] related that [redacted] was a somewhat mysterious man who apparently owned quite a large amount of real estate.

RE: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

[redacted] had apparently been an aerial photographer during World War II and was quite proud of his service record. He had a photographic dark room at his residence that contained numerous aerial photographs. he usually kept the dark room locked.

[redacted] had numerous influential friends, including H. L. Hunt, Dallas oil millionaire; Fred Florence (phonetic); and Russ Meyer, movie producer.

She stated that [redacted] residence at [redacted] was located [redacted] from General Edwin Walker's home located on Turtle Creek Boulevard. She advised that on the night that Lee Harvey Oswald allegedly shot at General Walker, her parents and some of the people in the neighborhood allegedly saw a man running through the alley behind General Walker's house after the shooting. Her parents were not sure, but they thought they saw a man run into [redacted] driveway and the possibility exists that this man could have hidden in [redacted] photographic dark room.

In 1962, [redacted] started talking that people were out to get him and [redacted] thought the "Mafia" was following him. [redacted] was afraid to go out by himself and on several occasions paid her father, who was in his 70's at that time, $10 to ride "shotgun" with him. It was on one of those occasions that [redacted] and her father drove to H. L. Hunt's residence, located at White Rock Lake, Dallas, Texas, to deliver strawberries.

[redacted] also mentioned that he had a friend by the name of Ferrie (phonetic) in New Orleans. [redacted] went to New Orleans frequently prior to 1963. [redacted] advised that Ferrie's name came up in the Jim Garrison investigation.

In May, 1962, [redacted] also allegedly said he was going to Cuba in that he was concerned with getting the prisoners out of Cuba after the Bay of Pigs invasion. [redacted] advised that she recalls seeing an Israeli and Cuban passport or visa at [redacted] residence in May, 1962.

[redacted] was allegedly very upset when he found out that Jack Ruby had shot Oswald and when he heard the news he just about passed out.

After that time, [redacted] spent a lot of his time trying to raise money for legal counsel for Jack Ruby as well as money for jeeps for Cuba. [redacted] apparently lost all of his money within a short period of time after the assassination of President Kennedy.

[redacted] was hospitalized sometime during January or February, 1964, and he died at the convalescent center located across the street from Baylor Hospital on Gaston Avenue, Dallas, Texas. He allegedly had cut his wrist during the night. She is suspicious of his sudden death since he was an apparently influential man. Only six people attended his funeral, a closed casket ceremony, three of whom were members of her family.

Her mother, who is now in her 80's and has had several strokes, resides at the Brookhaven Nursing Home, Farmers Branch, Texas, believed that [redacted] really did not die and believes that he went to Israel to get away from the people that supposedly were after him.

[redacted] stated that as far as she knows, [redacted] was never questioned by any investigators after the assassination of President Kennedy, even though [redacted] considered Ruby his best friend.

[redacted] father, died several years ago.
