Dear Gary,

In an effort to save us both time, I've enclosed Hal's list of corrections. For your purposes, if anything you spot is on this list, whether or not I've made comment, ignore it. I've either picked them up, had already done it (most cases) or decided not to.

It will also save you time, I think, if you use a riler and give corrections in inches from the top of the top or the bottom of the bottom line, telling me which. I have a set identical with the one you'll have and can find the correction on it rather than the master.

I have not heard from Jim, so I do not know whether he has completed reading and sent to you or not. But if while you are doing this Paul sends you a xerox, please shift to that, for that is made from the master and those corrections initially pick up are already incorporated. This will also speed your reading.

There are some names that were not spelled correctly in my sources, like De Shazo. We'll get these from the index, but if you see it spelled any other way, except inside quotes, please let me know. I was right on Stephens rather than Stevens. Lowry is issue and where the name first appears I've gotten it. You may also see some letters omitted. This is where Hal used Whiteout and forgot to go back after waiting for it to dry. I've picked some up. When you have finished with this list, please send it with yours.

H
