Dear Jerry,

Sorry that I was unavailable when you called on Friday. The Bandy show thing# sounds wild and I anxiously await the details.

By now you should have received two items from me. First, the clipping and suit in the Nichols case describing the ruling and his appeal. Secondly, a can of film including Muchmore, Couch, and I think some other footage. Also including Robert Gibbon's clever remake of the Z film from the 26 volumes. Harold wrote me about what you had found in the Nix film.

I just finished paying off my Cornell loan and am finally debt-free. Now I hope to be able to save enough for a car. When Harold was out here he was appalled at the car I was driving, and my present one, a 1954 chevy, is just as bad. I make heavy use of the car in my job since I travel between hospitals, and its unreliability really hurts.

The Tribune does not seem to be interested in serializing Harold's book, so I am going ahead with other means of publicizing it. I will send the letter we got from the Tribune and a report on the final phone conversation.

Well, I'd better close now. Take it easy.

Gary
