Dear Harold,

I got the copies of Frame-Up from Otterbridge the other day. I haven't finished it yet, but what I have read is impressive. And Jerry P. tells me that it gets better! I had a great long chat with Jerry on the phone yesterday. It sounds like he is doing a hell of a lot to help promote the book. The people at Associate Personalities saw the review on their own and were impressed. I sent them one not knowing that they had seen it. I plan to see if a big Twin Cities series of engagements can't be carried off this Spring--hopefully they will do the leg work for once. Otterbridge called on Friday to make sure that the books had arrived and promised to send the press releases. I will write to Gary Short in Cleveland. Otterbridge has contacted the New York Review of books so I think I'll write the Times instead. Writing on clinic stationary with my professional title might supply a different type of input than your publisher can.

Thanks for your last letter and its enclosures. Glad to see that the Nix film footage was useful. Jerry told me that it had been over the phone, but didn't want to specify how. The irony is that this is the same thing I sent Dave Lifton. What he sent in return was a chance to buy copies of his printout for $15 per copy. He never sent any of his special work done on it, nor has he ever discussed what he found. It was just like throwing the thing down the "memory hole" in 1984. I will be sending Jerry the other footage I have, hopefully this week.

Ned just phoned and said that he got a letter back from the Tribune and that it wasn't encouraging. We will go into see the guy anyway, and hope to be convincing. But, we are also planning to go over his head. Specifically, Ned is wondering about Cowles himself, who may currently be needing to re-establish a reputation after screwing up HARPERS. I don't know why the bad reception, but suspect that it reflects something personal on the editor's part. We hope to set up an appointment for next Thursday with him.

Well, I'd better close now. Please get some rest for a change--and the same goes for Lil. Best wishes to you both.

Gary
