Witness Says Shaw 'Plotting' Could Have Been Bull Session

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Shaw, who was introduced as never mentioned a conspirato-Perry Russo, a key witness in Clem Bertrand. the Clay L. Shaw trial, says the 1963 presidential assassination plotting of which Shaw is ac-cused could as easily have been "an inconsequential bull session" as a serious scheme.

The defense got in that lick late yesterday in the trial of the 55-year-old retired businessman on charges of conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Russo, 27, a book salesman, sometime cab driver and sports buff, has provided the principal public evidence in the two-year battle of Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison to prove a plot to kill President Kennedy.

Russo testified for the state on his friendship with a bizarre character — the late David W. grees, and you'd think he'd be Ferrie who in the summer of doing something better. He was 1963 "became obsessed with the prone toward the spectacular." murder" of Kennedy. He said he had heard Ferrie say "we will kill him - it won't be long" several times and wasn't sure if he meant it.

In mid-September of 1963, in Ferrie's apartment, Russo testified, he listened while Ferrie, 49, a flying instructor, did most of the talking in the alleged

Talking with him, Russo testified, were his roommate Lee Harvey Oswald, whom the witness knew as "Leon," and the dignified and culturally inclined

He said they discussed a trian- Bertrand. gulation of crossfire, the necessity of a scapegoat, diversionary shots, escape by air and setting up of alibis by being in cities other than the murder site.

In testimony today, he ack-nowledged that he never heard Kennedy.

On cross examination by defense attorney F. Irvin Dymond, all the time in the 3- to 4-hour session.

Under Dymond's questioning, Russo said Ferrie "was screwy but sharp-a paradox of a personality; he spoke 11 languages and claimed to have five de-

"You mean to infer that Ferrie was a little on the crazy side?" Dymond asked.

"I've always thought so," replied Russo.

Dymond read from a newspavolved in the case nearly two years ago—which said that of Ferrie's statements seriously until he read" of Garrison's investigation. "Is it not a fact that the conversation (of the alleged plotters) could just as well have been an inconsequential bull session as it could have been anything serious?" Dymond asked.

"Yes," said Russo. "Is it not a fact that you have told people that it could well have been?"

"Yes." Ferrie died on Feb. 22, 1967, and on Feb. 24 Garrison said he and his staff had "solved" the assassination. Dymond brought out that in three television interviews on the latter date Russo

rial meeting, Oswald or Clem

With the consent of both the state and defense, an interview with Russo on Feb. 25, 1967, by Asst. Dist. Atty. Andrew Sciambra was read to the jury. It said that "Busso said . . . it was common knowledge them "agree" to try to kill everyone that Ferrie was a hom-Kennedy. everyone that Ferrie had surgical equipment and bones in his attic, was teaching young boys Russo said he had not been there in the Civil Air Patrol jungle all the time in the 3-to 4-hour warfare in a plan to help "liberate South American countries."

It quoted Russo as saying "Ferrie showed him a drug he had concocted that was very similar to aphrodisiac but even better. He (Ferrie) said it would make a person extremely passionate . . . He had tried it on his roommate and it worked per-

The memorandum said Russo was shown a picture of Shaw and recalled seeing him in 1962 when Kennedy spoke at a wharf dedication here, and "he said he particularly remembers this guy