Dear Sam,

Thanks for your note and your plug.

I don't think they lost me as much as they wanted to foregt me at Delaware.

I'll also be surprised if they ask me to be on their speaker's program. They are teaching an assassinations course at Delaware. Today that is not uncommon. That they have used other speakers, not me, also is not uncommon. Only one college with such a course has had me to speak. I'm leaving my papers with it, University of Wisconsin, through the Stevens Point branch.

The reason appear to be that no matter how shocking the truth it is not sensational enough. The profs and the kids go for the nut stuff, people like Mark Lane, who is an irresponsible when he gets decent. Which isn't often.

Today there are not many college invitations for me, although once I appear they like me very much.

Last one the end of September was at a small Wisconsin religious college. They apparently cought me on the Good Morning America show in June.About a third of the student body was there - and the appearance was at lunchtime.

I am busier than ever because I've done all the real work on the King assassination, too. I'm suing the Department of Justice, including the FBI, for their records. They Have delivered more than 44,000 pages of them and still have not complied with my Freedom of Information Act suit.

With my circulatory problems, more of which have been identified since we were last in touch, I'd love to have some Florida college ask me to speak. I'd sure look you up if I got down that way.

I just can't afford to travel unless it is for an appearance. And I don't. From June to early this month I was in Washington only twice, both times for medical appointments. Ahd Washington is only 50 miles away. (Because the blood puddles in my legs when they are down it is unwise for me to drive that far.) The appearance generally pays an honorarium and actual expenses.

Glad to hear from you, Please remember to those to whom you think I'd like to be remembered. The only one of whom I've heard in years is Jim Rosbrow. My sister Alma wbrks where he did. I think he retired when the administration changed.

I hope ypu and your family are happy in the balmy climes and that you are all prospering in various ways there,

Dear Harold,
This enclosure should be self explanatory. The Alumni periodical had a list of lost alumni, and you are there.

I am the rabbi of this small congregation on the West coast of Florida, a suburb of Ft. Myers.

If you ever get down this way my wife and I would love to see you.

I imagine you are busier than ever, and I note that the FBI is about to release a slew of documents on the Dallassinination. Which should be right down your pike.

I was in Washington a few days ago and saw my namesake, Sam Silver, now retired from the Defense ~~Educ~~ Dept. and I brought him up to date on your activities.

With best wishes to you and the Mrs., I am

Yours,

Dear Friends,

This is in response to your plea to locate "lost almmni."

Harold Weisberg, '36, on that list is a national celebrity that some of you must ~~xxxxx~~ have read about.

He is one of the most prominent critics of the Warren investigation of the Kennedy assassination, having written more than a half dozen books on that subject and is often cited in the media for his efforts to find out ~~xhx~~ the truth about the tragedy.

He is on Route 12, Old Receiver Road, Frederick, Maryland 21701.

He is a fascinating speaker and would intrigue audiences at the college if you could secure him to make an address. He is an alumnus of whom we can be proud.

With every good wish I am

Yours sincerely,

RABBI SAMUEL M. SILVER
