HEADLINE: Dallas County denies Stone's movie request

BYLINE: FROM WIRE DISPATCHES AND STAFF REPORTS

DATELINE: DALLAS

BODY:

Movie director Oliver Stone was rebuffed yesterday in his bid to film a re-enactment of President Kennedy's assassination from the sixth floor of the former Texas School Book Depository.

Dallas County commissioners said they wouldn't reconsider their decision denying Mr. Stone's request. The building now houses county offices as well. Press Alt-H for Help or Alt-Q to Quit.

as a museum. It was the third time in three weeks that the film's co-producer had made the request.

The Dallas County Historical Foundation could still work out a deal with the movie producer. The foundation's board of directors, which oversees the sixth-floor exhibit, voted 5-4 last week to give Mr. Stone access to the building.
