Filmmaker Oliver Stone heads for Texas in April to begin filming the drama JFK, which will present various scenarios relating to the 1963 assassination of U.S. president John F. Kennedy.

The movie stars Kevin Costner as former New Orleans prosecutor James Garrison, whose investigation maintained Kennedy was the victim of a CIA and FBI conspiracy, and that Lee Harvey Oswald, declared the lone assassin by the Warren Commission 10 months after Kennedy was killed in Dallas on Nov. 22, Press Alt-H for Help or Alt-Q to Quit.

was set up as their fall guy.

"We're looking at the old evidence and will present alternative scenarios not only based on Jim's book but on new information that came to light in the '70s and '80s," Stone told Daily Variety.

"John Kennedy was the godfather of my generation and a lot of us believe he was murdered for political reasons," said Stone. "And like Hamlet, we have to try to look back and correct the inaccuracies."

Daily Variety said Gary Oldman was tentatively set to portray Oswald and Sissy Spacek will be cast in the role of Garrison's wife.
