Dear Russ,

In writing you westerday and earlier I was pressed for time. I have a few minutes before awakening Lil, not enough for working, so I expend a bit.

Mistakes can have real value, even serious mistakes, if we extract the lessons all hold. The skolnick fisson is one. I almost made a bad one in it, and it is not my own unfailing instinct that prevented it, merely the unusual fact that * learned of it so late at night, just before midnight.

There now remains no doubt he is off on an ego trip, that his is a spurious suit, and the real damage is not his plegiarism but the evil potential of the "suit", which will be tossed out of court the minute it is considered. This, in turn, it being a suit against the government for alleged suppression, would lead to nationwide headilnes "No JFK Suppressions". Do I have to tell you the effect this would have on our work, on public and media attitudes, on the legimitate suits to be filed and Tiled?

So, once I had time to think it over before countering the extensive publicity, I decided the thing called for was no publicity, and I've avoided it. In fact, where reporters have divined the truth, I've persuaded them to drop it. It sometimes takes a young recorter a little while to learn the urgency of no p blicity. You will, I am sure, recall our previous correspondence in which I've been saying that, as a general thing, unless there today is major attention, the time is not now for one-shots, essecially not in the underground press. It may help you understand this is you commerce the total suppression of my quite legitimate suit and its really sensational nature and ettached proofs with the extensive publicity this fake one gat. This is the nature of the media with which we live. The press talks about the dishonesty of the admi istration, especially Mitchell and Eleindienst, but they are in terror of basic asseult upon them.

Actually, although he feels and says otherwise, I have made very few calls about Skolnick. I did phone only one reporter seeking information. I phoned "RSV, the station he used 3/20, as I reported to you, and got lies am evenions. I then phoned WOFL, the station on which his thing got aired and whose reputation and participation made it a story. This is the total extent, except for letters that are only just now reaching their destinations: the President of Columbia College, the manager of WOFL, and a second letter to WRSV.

The men at WCFL (I spoke to the news director in the absence of the manager and the reporter on the story when he phoned back do seem concerned about the potentialities of the damage. They invited me to go there and ruin Skolnick and I immediately declined, for this is not the need. It was no trick to convince them of my truthfulness. I began by telling them to tape what I said and confront Skolnick with it and let the manager mear it. Obviously, this is subject to but a single interpretation. When the news director (Hegan) told me no'd like his remorter to phone back, I again told him to have Pahn, the reporter, tape the call. I was able, knowing wast of what I have I gave you, to accurately describe the contents of the attachments, for I had not given you all the FBI reports, some not being directly related to what I'd asked you to do for me. I invited them to come and see the others. or to send a Metrome is man from DC, etc. In short, after I outlined the Freedom of Information act, stops this and more like it, it became obvious to them that they were involved in a mess, a plagiarism, and they reised with me the cuestion of damages. I told them this was premature, that if I desired to deal with them on that basis it would not be by such open and frenk talk but through a lawyer, and I suggested that while this was real and very serio a to me, other hings held higher criority, one being preventing further damage. On demage I suggested their manager and counsel think it over. They continued pressing on this, either formself-protection or from since concern.

I expect them to be sending we everything they have. I'll then be in a better position to evaluate the extent of demage, to me and to work on the assassientions, and what must be done. Also, the extent of Skolnick's corruption. This is to include tapes, releases, the suit and clippings.

Last night my reporter friend, who knew immediately this was my material because long ago I had both backgrounded him on this end asked his help (which he could not offer, his employment being what it is), phoned to update me.

About the time you end he were in touch, perheos just a little later, Skolnick tried to interest a WBEM reporter through a far-out type WBEM engineer in his class. We has been in touch with this reporter off and on, apparently in the hope of pulling his thing on WBEM and getting it ied to CBS. He seems to have switched to WCFL only when it became clear this was not to be his.

Here I tell you what you may know from your own Chicago experiences: In that lovely city of pasce, tranquility and political freedom, WCBL is known as Mayor Daley's station. The fire reporters with the slightest unorthodoxy, the faintest suggestion of political free thinking, and reporters of such character they immediately get better jobs. The major revorting of the conspiracy trial on WBRM and all the stations it fed, which is many if not most of the all-news stations, is such a WCFL slummas. The most perplaying single question to my friend is how this got sired at all on MERRY WCFL, especially with their participation. I am not sure I share the inference, but I do report it.

New Skolnick has gotten down to the open expression of his contempt for all of us working on the case. Unfortunately, in this interview, which I am getting, that came after the taping, but I am also getting a name from that reporter. He began with fine-sounding condescencion about us buffs being slefless is amateurish, etc., and wound up calling us incompetent but that would end not that his great and unequalled talents were being applied. And this, mind you, after the clearly had unequalled talents were being applied. And this, mind you, after the clearly had it from NCGL, after his call to me. This happened to be a godd, and experienced reporter who knew the right questions, like how you go about filing such a suit, what has to be done, etc., and in every single question Skolnick failed. In all other areas he had only everious. There are at least two Skolnick interview tapes I'll be getting and if these do nothing also they'll tell you the kind of guy he is. I doubt you'll have enything also to do with him after hearing them. I also tared his conversation with me and that will blow your mind as I blow his.

Skolnick did get copies of Tensterweld's Bolden file, and he seems to have used it selectively. Bud is a very trusting guy, as he is also a very decent one. He also has an unarring instinct for xxx avery phoney, not from any character fault or evil intent but because he is serious about this, wants all the help ime can get, and because he is so trusting. He did not tell no of being in touch with Skolnick until a few days ago. It was just before Skolnick filed the suit.

My hunch is that, whether or not it will work, this being that kind of soaring ego, WCFL will try and pressure Skolnick to withdraw his suit. If he doesn't, I'll have to give serious consideration to going to Cgicago to take care of him publicly, to them end that he is completely disassociated from the main critical community. The purpose will be not vangeance but to minimize the damage of his inevitable defeat in court. Meanwhile, he is now calling reporters who ask him questions either FBI or Secret Service agents:

It is a mess. I knew you did not intend it. It has also further it disillusioned several sincere critics who have been in touch with me, who actually believed this could be a serious, viable suit from the AP story and the WCFL backing. But in the Archives, where I was the day the story broke, they were slughing about it.

Should they not have, from a legal point of view? here is a man who had never written them a letter, enver and a request of them, charging them with suppression. What stending can that have in court. Especially when if the Secret Service has anything, as I am confident they do, on Valle, they did not give it to the Commission and it is not in the Archives. I do know the Secret Service and on this. These was no reason to tell you and I got it after I finished the writing, after you left thicago. And I also believe it. It is as logical and reasonable, from their moint of view, as naything can be. By the way, they also are alughing at Skolnick's suit. But they do not, generally, lough at the possibility of suite against them, as you will learn when you are here. They do not want serious ones on this subject.

This poor Skolnick is sick with his own deformity and an enormous ego. It is tragic that he cannot use his apparently fine mind for really constructive purposes but sermite his ego to dominate it. If he continued as he started he'd have accomplished worthwhile tuings. The word I get is that with his efforts failing to attract the kind of attention his first success got, he began a kind of deparation demand for attention.

Bell, wil now has breakfest. Please snawer the questions + have asked you as completely as you can. Past to both.

Dear Mary,

I should have filled you in on this soon r. The letter is to the friend from whom Skolnick got my COUP meterial that he used in broadcasts and a fake suit of which you robably heard. After you have read this, please return it for my Russ file. I taink the suit really will die and we'll not be really hurt by it. If it doesn't, we will be hurt.
