aig, Buzhardt Said to Face In

John P. MacKenzie Washington Post Staff Writer

Watergate special prosecutors are expected soon to sum- federal laws were violated in Nixon's resignation last Au- Watergate prosecutor was inmon former White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. and former counsel J. Fred Buzhardt before a federal grand jury here, a national magazine reports in its Nixon said fully complied with illegal entry into the Demo- dential lawyer James D. St. forthcoming issue out Monday.

preparation of the edited tranrecordings Nixon released with a televised statement ing. that the entire Wastergate story had been told.

gate prosecutor's office con-|White House chief of staff, within existing criminal stat firmed that an investigation was edited to omit the damag- utes. was under way to see whether ing remarks that triggered handling the transcripts. He gust shortly after it and other terested in finding out who serefused, however, to discuss tapes were released. The uned- lected and edited the 46 taped any impending grand jury ac- ited tape showed that on June conversations that were pub-

transcripts, the demands for tapes by the cratic National Committee's Clair's statement in a foreprosecutor and the House Ju- Watergate headquarters six word to the volume -The New Republic said the diciary Committee, proved to former top aides to President be highly selective and inaccu-Nixon will be asked about the rate Omissions and inaccuracies, when compared with the involved in the cover-up. scripts of White House tape tapes, turned out to be mostly in favor of Nixon's claim that publicly on April 30, 1974, he was innocent of wrongdo- tion might be difficult because original transcript from which conversation between Nixon ment investigators, even if Nixon has been pardoned

Until its release last year, Nixon contended he was not Lawyers familiar with the The tape of a June 23, 1972, sional committee and govern- taken and why.

The magazine said the 23 Nixon personally ordered a lished in a thick blue volume. which cover-up of the facts about the It said the accuracy of presiday earlier on June 17, 1972. Only irrelevant material had been omitted - also would come under scrutiny.

Still another item of prosecution interest, the magazine criminal law said the prosecu. said, was who destroyed an the misleading of a congres. the edited transcripts were

A spokesman for the Water- and H. R. Haldeman, then his proved, did not seem to fall for any offenses he may have quiry on Tapes

does not extend to his aides.

Prosecutor Receives More Nixon Tapes

United Press International

tor Henry S. Ruth Jr. said yesterday his office had received has received a great number more Nixon tape-recordings of pertinent documents," Ruth and papers-this time with the former President's blessingfor use in criminal investiga-in a memorandum filed in fed-versations. eral court, the special prosecutapes and documents.

Ruth said there would be need."

committed, but the pardon "no reason" for him to continue in the case, since he soon expects to have all the Nixon materials in hand that he needs to wrap up his investigations.

'As of this date a substantial number of the relevant Watergate Special Prosecu- files have been reviewed, and the special prosecutor's office advised the three-judge panel that is handling the Vixon case. "Additionally, we have received or listened to a num-For that reason, Ruth said ber of tapes of recorded con-

"Under these existing procetor may soon seek to withdraw dures, we expect that within as an intervenor in Richard M. the relativley near future we Nixon's court fight to regain will have received substancustody of his presidential tially all the materials for which we have indicated a