Mr. J. R. Wiggins
Editor and Executive Vice President
The Washington Post
1515 L Street, NW
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Wiggins:

Your offer is kind and ~~precious~~<sup>precious</sup>, and I do appreciate it. If there is anything in the enclosed communication to which you object, please edit it, or if it is longer than you had in mind, please return it for shortening.

After the long delay, I now believe the press will devote attention to this subject. I do hope The Washington Post will contribute its editorial wisdom and influence to an effort at perspective and focus, to avoid the development of a witch-hunt.

Should your own heavy commitments and your interest ever permit, I would welcome an opportunity to discuss this subject with you, including some of my more recent discoveries not in the book that I believe are of significance and those things I have done to facilitate inquiry by the press at the appropriate time.

Sincerely yours,

Harold Weisberg
