Dear Henry,

Being with you all was pleasant. All that seems missing is the magnifying glass that was borrowed by a student, I think, at the end of the meeting. If it is found I'd like it for it is one of the clearer small glasses.

On the way home I spoke to a friend in New York who might be interested in your paper and that of the Felts. I spoke to him about both, without being able to give him too much detail about yours and knowing less than I might about that of the Felts. If you do not connect with the present submission, who not write him? He is Richard Gallen, chairman of the board, Parallax Press, 231 East 51. They are small but have very effective distribution. He also is connected elsewhere.

I have decided to go ahead with the Manchester book. By now you have seen some of the more minor but still glaring examples of what I was telling you. There is at least a second picture that proves he was merely venomous and anything but a historian.

Ernie told me of your call. Thanks. Regards to your interesting associates and Mary.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg

P.S. One of your associates said honoraria are tax exempt. My wife says no. Do you know the citation in the regulations?
