1/9/87

Dear Mr. Yefimov-Moscovitz,

In your 1/3/87 letter you ask for a picture of me. I enclose one that is at least six years old, the most recent one I have. I can tell the age because after several operations I've put on weight and I then was dressed for outside work of which I'm not now capable. I'd appreciate the return of this picture after you need for it is past.

You say that your book on the JFK assassination will be published in March and that you've used those of my books you found in libraries. I think I see other indications that your work is much more limited than it might have been, but with March publication that is academic.

I'm sorry that you didn't look me up earlier because my work and knowledge have far outdistanced the Warren Commission's work and because I am a minority of probably one among the critics.

As you will in time learn, I'm confident, much of the critical work was in varying degrees irresponsible and misdirected.

If you are ever near here or want to come and I suggest this both in general and with something specific in mind, please feel welcome. I would like your people to get the best possible understanding of this tragic event and its consequences. (A member of one of your scholarly academies wanted to come here some years ago when he would be in the U.S., I invited him and never heard another word.) The specific I had in mind is copies of government records that the Warren Commission did not have and that I obtained by many suits I filed under the Freedom of Information Act. It is my experience that readers like to see such records reproduced in facsimile. If you have seen my Post Mortem you have an idea of what I mean.

I've aged since this picture was taken and I'll be 74 in three months.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Wiesberg,

Working on my book on the Kennedy assassination (to be published in Russian in March 1987 by Hermitage) I've used all your publications which I could find in the libraries. Your contribution in the case research is enormous and hopefully will be appreciated by the future generations. The selfless work of the best critics of Warren Commission Report was the only comforting part of the grim story I've been investigating last three years. That is why I've decided to use their portraits for the backcover of my book. Could you please send me your photograph for this purpose? I would appreciate it very much.

Your address was given to me by Sylvia Meagher who has helped me a lot in my work, as well as Mary Ferrell and many others.

With best wishes, yours,

Igor Yefimov-Moscovit
