Dear Gary,

When my wife, who today needed that bit of walking more than I, took the larger letter you should get with this one out to our box the mail was early and had been delivered. It goes out when it comes in so I'm glad I could not get it in the mail. That is because I had an ARRB mailing and one from a retired FBI SA who has become a fan and friend. He enclosed a clipping from his local paper of 9/9 and it does report that the ARRB has asked the FBI be compelled to make some disclosures having to do with foreign sources. From the descriptions of the records involved, both FBI and many more of the CIA, I believe that at best some are peripheral and some have no assassination connection at all. What Judge told you is in the release they forgot to send me.

Of course anything connected with Oswald should be disclosed. But that will have nothing to do with the assassination. He was not the assassin or an assassin.

I do have an interest in the Mexico City documents but I'm not now up to what is required to get them. My interest has a different basis, what those CIA nuts down there were really up to.

That the ARRB decided to disclose withheld Giancana records reflects their ignorance and their real objective I mention in the other letter.

Insofar as the other records disclosure of which it seeks are not really assassination records per se in all this whole business will add to the record they have been making of seeming to fulfill their mandate while staying as far away from real assassination records as they can.

They talk about disclosing "substantive" information about the assassination but I've not seen or heard of a single page that is substantiative on the assassination.

And the more nutty stuff given to them the less chance there will be that they will get to any of the real stuff and the more they can make themselves look like they tried hard.

And in the end the people will be even more disenchanted and the critics will look even worse.

I was given and I've gone over the first batch they made the CIA disclose. There is not a thing in them related in any way to the assassination. The few cryptonyms disclosed mean nothing in the assassination or in any genuine investigation of it rather than of official or unofficial mythology.

Best,
