Dear Mark,

Glad to know where you are and that you are settled. I do not know Adams Street but I know from the phone exchange that you are uptown, near the college.

If I think of anything you can do I will ask, thanks.

You might say hello to a few people for me.

Andrew Sciambra ought to be practising law and in the book. Known as Moo.

Jim Alcock. Just heard yesterday that as of a friend's last knowledge Louis Ivon was running for civil sheriff. Hope he made it is makes it.

If you want an excuse for meeting Monk Zelden ask him to give you the copy of the Garrison indictment and related papers he did not return to me. Known as Monk, name Sam, office was in Pere Marquette Bldg, home in your neighborhood. Think on Pine. If you do ask for Dean Andrews for me and give my regards to both. Also ask Monk if he ever brought his book on justice out.

Look Garrison up but remember he is paranoid and self-conceived as omniscient, or unique genius. He may be polite about me but don't believe it.

Larry Borenstein was not a close friend but I think you'll enjoy his Preservation Hall bands and their music and his creole food around the corner at the Vaucresson Creole Cafe. Tell him hello for me.

One thing that can help may require explanations. The wire services do not put identical stories on their various regional wires. N.O. and both papers will have the same wire as Memphis and other points south. It is not uncommon for those stories not to make the northern wires. So do not assume if you see the AP and UPI logos that this means it is a story printed up here. Anything of any interest would be of possible value. Right now especially from Memphis and on the assassins committee, which was supposed to be opening a N.O. office there.

The assassins committee is having a critics' brainstorming this weekend. Jackie Hess invited me and I declined. Then Dohovan did, making it apparent he wanted me to sort of devils advocate it, knock the nut stuff down. I said maybe but not likely for the second day, Sunday, but if he has a problem afterward to let me know.

Have no doubt, you did the right thing to go to law school. Give it your best. Hope you also enjoyt it.

Best wishes,

Harold —
