Dear Miss Kinsella,

Thanks for the good advice in your letter of the 13th.

When I was in Boston, I had the only pictures I have of myself with me. You selected the one you think best. Would you please return it for the brochure. I do not have the negative.

It is, of course, only reasonable that you want to "receive some kind of audience response and enthusiasm". To this end, if it is in accord with your own practices, when you have a group that may be interested in the King/Ray case but hesitates at the honorarium, I am willing for you to offer it with the understanding that if, afterward, they are not satisfied, they will owe me nothing. If you want to do this, because I have not yet spoken on this subject, I would appreciate it if the speech could be in your area, where one of you might audition it and afterward make suggestions. This is not necessary, but I think it would be helpful to me and thus to both of us. I would particularly like a college or a black group for this. Most of all, a lawyers' group, or of law students.

The retyping of the book on this subject is nearing completion. As soon as it is finished, I have an appointment with my agent and a publisher who may be interested. Thereafter, I will proceed as you suggest.

Many thanks.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
