National Archives provided him, a commercial writer, with an office and complete access to all records of the Commission, something which no other writer on the assassination has enjoyed.

²⁴Numerous protests were made to the Federal Communications Commission and to C.B.S. by the critics against the misrepresentations and distortions of the evidence. One illustration of C.B.S.'s misrepresentations is found in Josiah Thompson, Six Seconds in Dallas. A Micro-Study of the Kennedy Assassination (New York: Bernard Geis Associates, 1967), 292-296. Perhaps the best statement of criticism is the letter from Sylvia Meagher to Richard Salant, President of C.B.S., July 3, 1967, distributed to the press and interested parties. A copy of the four-page letter is in my file: "C.B.S.: Evidentiary Misrepresentations."

Meagher cites the evidentiary record which can also be found through her Subject Index to the Warren Report and Hearings and Exhibits (Ann Arbor, Michigan: University Microfilms enlarged edition, 1971).
