Kennedy Marathon On Television

In effect, it's JFK Week on television. Here is a list of major TV programs related to next Monday's 30th anniversary of President John F. Kennedy's assassination:

Today

NBC's "Today" show (7 a.m. on Channel 4) begins a week of special features about Kennedy's life and death. On Friday, the program originates from the Kennedy Library in Boston.

"Fatal Deception; Mrs. Lee Harvey Oswald" (9 p.m. on Channel 4) stars Helena Bonham Carter in a TV movie looking at the assassination from Marina Oswald's perspective.

Tomorrow

"Nova" (8 p.m. on Channel 9) repeats a 1988 installment with a scientific examination of the evidence in Kennedy's murder.

"Frontline" (9 p.m. on Channel 9) presents an "investigative biography" of Kennedy's assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, beginning with his boyhood.

Wednesday

"Jack" (8 p.m. on Channel 5) is a two-hour CBS entertainment special produced by Emmy- and Oscar-winner Peter Davis, promising an intimate look at Kennedy's family life and public life.

Thursday

"JFK: In His Own Words" (8 p.m. on Channel 9) uses rare film footage and audio tapes of Kennedy's own voice to reveal "the private man behind the public hero."

Friday

"CBS Reports: Who Killed JFK — The Final Chapter" (8 p.m. on Channel 5) uses new technology to sift through the murder evidence. Dan Rather anchors CBS' first investigation of the assassination since ... last year.

Saturday

"The Kennedys" (8 p.m. on Channel 9) on American Experience is a four-hour repeat of an "American Experience" documentary about the Kennedy family, including the assassinations of John

John F. Kennedy is the subject of several specials this week and Robert F. Kennedy.

Sunday

"November 22, 1963: Where Were You?" (5 p.m. on TNT cable) is a live Larry King special featuring reminiscences of celebrities and journalists.

"JFK: Reckless Youth" (9 p.m. on Channel 7) is a two-part ABC miniseries dramatizing Kennedy's pre-presidential years. Based on Nigel Hamilton's best-seller, it stars Patrick Dempsey ("Mobsters") as Kennedy.

Next Monday

"The Kennedy Years — In Words and Music" (5:15 p.m. on Channel 9) combines photographs of Kennedy by Jacques Lowe with music from the Camelot era.

Bold-face lives

Norman Mailer was spotted dining with Marina Oswald Porter Thursday night in Antares atop Reunion Tower. . . Channel 4 general manager Jeff Rosser got to hang out in David Letterman's green room during Wednesday night's show. The green room, of course, is for performers waiting to go on the show. Jeff wasn't on the show, but he says just being there was fun. Fellow green room inhabitants included Billy Crystal and Robin Williams. . . Joanne Teichman, who runs the Ylang Ylang store at the Galleria, used a carrot to lure California jewelry designer Erica Courtney to town for trunk shows Friday and Saturday. "She's a health food nut," said Joanne. The shop promised a healthy vegetable feast, and Eureka restaurant delivered. . . Ennis is proclaiming Saturday James C. McCormick Day, in honor of the Dallas novelist (The Stone Brute). He'll be signing his books at the Emporium.
