IS SLA'S CINQUE THE FIRST BLACK LEE HARVEY OSWALD?

by Mae Brussell and Stephanie Caruana

Mae Brussell is a researcher who has spent ten years studying political assassinations and conspiracies in the United States. On July 11, 1972, she wrote the first and so far the only article to give a reasonable explanation for the break-in and arrest at the Watergate--three weeks after the event. The article, "Why Was Martha Mitchell Kidnapped?," as well as a long companion piece, "The Senate Select Committee is Part of the Cover-Up," were published in The Realist.

For three years, Brussell's weekly hour-long radio news analysis show, Dialogue Conspiracy, Tapes of Dialogue Conspiracy are available to other radio stations through KLRB-FM. Brussell is currently working on a complete account of the Patricia Hearst kidnapping conspiracy, for The Realist, and a book called Murderville, U.S.A. She also teaches the first accredited university course entitled Conspiracies and Assassinations, at Monterey Peninsula College.

Stephanie Caruana is a writer whose work has appeared in Playgirl and the Los Angeles Times, and the author of a play, The Rip-Off. The following interview was completed on April 7, 1974.

SC: Can you please explain what is going on? Who or what is the S.L.A., and why did they kidnap Patricia Hearst?

MB: The script from the very beginning was to have the nice rich white princess kidnapped by the mean black prison "escapes;" to drag out the scenario until the whole nation was involved with Patty's fate; and then to sacrifice her. Donald DeFreeze and Thero Wheeler would be the patsies. DeFreeze would be the main patsy: the first black Lee Harvey Oswald. He would wind up dead, or in jail, silenced, like Sirhan Sirhan, Jack Ruby, Lee Harvey Oswald, James Earl Ray, Arthur Bremer, and many other patsies. The intelligence agencies behind the plot didn't plan that Patty Hearst, Donald DeFreeze and Thero Wheeler would survive and tell their story. The whole plot for the paramilitary take-over of the United States might come out in the open if the truth is revealed about this kidnapping.

On the other hand, if the plan to assassinate Patty Hearst is carried out, the military intel-

The Hearst kidnapping is a domestic conspiracy. It has to be understood in its historical context.

The past ten years have seen the murder of a President, a Senator, Congressmen, civil rights leaders, and hundreds of other victims of what I believe are related conspiracies.

The next ten years will be bloody and fearful for all minorities in the United States. It appears that there will be a concerted effort on the part of the Defense Intelligence Agency to continue the policies of the Nazis they brought into this country following World War II. (1) Genocide will be made possible by the same techniques used in Germany.

Two large airports will be utilized to move large masses of people. In addition to the Dallas-Ft. Worth airport, a new airport is planned in San Diego, next to the Mexican border. These airports have been designed with extra-thick runways, to accommodate giant 747 planes. The planes themselves, which have proved "impractical for civilian airline use, have just been purchased by the military, and are being remodelled for mass transport. Their engines are turned over every day, at a cost of thousands of dollars, so that they can be pressed into service at a day's notice.

Two large new prisons, costing over $186 million, are proposed for California. One is located in San Diego, next to the "new Airport." The proposed prisons in Vacaville and San Diego will specialize in "mental problems," turning inmates into zombies.

Twelve and a half million acres of California desert land, stretching from the Mexican border near San Diego to the Sierra Nevada, have been secretly and quickly closed off to all vehicles. "Fear of dune buggies" was the cover story for this act. There should be regular examinations of this territory for new fences and structures of any kind.

A new $105 million hospital, the most expensive in the world, is being planned for Travis Air Force Base in California. It is located on "Treatment" is going on in our hospitals and prisons. If the "King Alfred" and "Heliotrope" plans are to be put into effect they require secrecy. Including the prison system in the race-war kidnapping script provides an excuse to keep "outside visitors" out of the prison system. The official excuse will be that they are causing violence inside the prison, or that violence from inside the prison is "spilling out on the streets." Through the planned use of selected propagandists, the Department of Corrections can now screen prisoners' mail, visitors, media interviews, and accessibility to medical records.

SC: DeFreese and Wheeler both escaped from California prisons within a short time of each other. That seemed a little peculiar to me. Do you find any similarities between the prison escapes of DeFreese, Wheeler, and James Earl Ray?

MB: After two years of heavy programming, DeFreese's mentors at Vacaville, apparently decided that he was ready for the next step in the script: his "escape." DeFreese was transferred from Vacaville to Soledad prison, near Salinas, California, in December, 1973. Four months later, in March, 1974, DeFreese "escaped" from Soledad. But using the word "escape" is misleading; the facts are, that DeFreese was placed in a situation at Soledad where all he had to do was to walk away from the prison.

DeFreese's escape from Soledad, parallels James Earl Ray's "escape" from the Missouri penitentiary. Eighteen months later, Ray became the alleged assassin of Martin Luther King. Ray was a patsy too. Now Ray seems to want to tell the truth about the assassination of Martin Luther King, and one of the things he said, in a recent press conference, was, "Ask them how I got out of jail."

A prisoner from Soledad has stated, "While Donald DeFreese was here I had a few conversations with him. I have always questioned his departure as being a simple walk-away. I didn't come in contact with him personally until his last couple of weeks here. There weren't many who would associate with him. He tried to give the impression of being super-cool, and he came across as cold. When I met him, he was working in the maintenance shop. I asked him if he was happy on his job, because if not, I might be able to find him something else. He replied that within a few days, he was going to be assigned to work in the boiler room at the South Facility."

"I questioned that, because he didn't have enough time here to be given that trust. I know cons that have been turned down for that position. He wouldn't comment; he only gave me a

Berkeley area. All of them were "underemployed" in terms of their educational background. Two of them worked in adjacent food stalls, near the U.C. Berkeley campus -- yet supposedly they did not know each other.

After DeFreese's escape, the police made no attempt to contact any of the people he had spent so much time with while he was at Vacaville. This indicates police collusion.

DeFreese escaped from Soledad in March, 1973. Patty Hearst was kidnapped one year later. During the year in between, DeFreese tried to join Los Venceremos, offering himself as a "hit man." Venceremos turned him down. They did not trust him; they were not into killing and violence. The radical groups in the Bay area wanted nothing to do with DeFreese.

SC: I can't understand where DeFreese's head was at this time. Did he know he was acting as a government agent? Had he accepted the role of a spy, in order to get out of jail? If so, then he couldn't really believe he was going to be a hero, he would know the whole operation was staged to hurt black people. He must have been aware that his jail break had been planned and engineered for him.

MB: DeFreese was probably given a large hero pitch -- probably something to the effect that the abduction of Patricia Hearst would rally the radical groups, and cause them to be socially involved once more. Violence by provocateurs had broken up all political movements following the Kent State killings and the bombing of Cambodia.

He accepted the favor's given to him by the L.A.P.D. and the Department of Corrections. I am sure "Cinque" thought there was a large army of sympathetic people who would back him up.

The L.A.P.D. had fore-knowledge of the Marin County Courthouse shoot-out, where Judge Haley was killed and others were wounded -- and I don't mean fore-knowledge of the psychic variety. Jonathan Jackson, the patsy, had been promised a back-up, and another trick to assist him in his attempt to free the captive prisoners. But when the action started, nobody was there to help him, and Jonathan Jackson was slain. So-called "friends" leave their palsies in the lurch, as in the case of Lee Harvey Oswald and other unsuspecting victims of espionage operations.

where their companions were getting ready for America's "first political kidnapping."

These military agents presented themselves to DeFreese as romantic Robin Hoods. When the heat was on, they split.

After two months of anxiety regarding Patricia Hearst's kidnapping, a photograph and tape weeks before the Hearst kidnapping. They had talked frequently about Dr. Marcus Foster, while "instructing inside the prisons." Yet nobody broke into the various Bay area dwellings were sent out to further outrage middle America. This lovely girl, who only two months before, was happily selecting her china in anticipation of a traditional marriage, was calling her father, publicly, a "liar," holding a machine gun, promising to fight alongside of her brothers and sisters in the S.L.A., and denouncing her fiance and family.

Tension was building in the Bay area. Was Patty a member of the S.L.A.? Had she been bred to renounce her background? Was she making love to DeFreese? How far would the establishment go in allowing such a display of arrogance? And how dumb can the American people be?

The media, the Hearst family, and the public are being fed the propaganda that the terrorists may have brainwashed Patricia Hearst. Nobody considers the fact, that the C.I.A. and the intelligence establishment could brainwash Patty as they have the other agents used in their conspiracies.

We are going to see a great number of articles in the future from so-called experts and public officials. They will warn about more violence, more kidnappings, and more terrorists. Mass media, the armed forces, and intelligence agencies will saturate our lives with fascist scare tactics and "predictions" that have already been planned to come true.

Whether Patty Hearst was allowed to live, or whether she is murdered, is no longer important in the general game plan. The score tactics, armed forces in the streets, provoked anger against her abduction, and fear for the future safety of others, is taking place.

SC: The majority of the citizens believe radicals were responsible for these acts of violence. Is there any way we can halt this devastating process?

MB: It is the American fantasy that we never assassinated our President in Dallas, Texas. Only "lone assassins" are capable of this act. It is the same fantasy that we don't kill our own citizens, including the daughter of one of the team. What links the future murders to past murders, is a chain of evidence that becomes easier to identify with every criminal act.

"I questioned that, because he didn't have enough time here to be given that trust. I know cons that have been turned down for that position. He wouldn't comment; he only gave me a big smile. I should explain that no prisoners were kept at the South Facility at that time, because it had no security. No gun towers were in operation, and there were no guards posted. A few prisoners with proven records of trust were taken from the Central Facility to the South Facility to perform certain duties; then they would be returned to Central after their shift. A few days later, DeFreeze did get that job: midnight to eight a.m. shift in the boiler room at South Facility."

"On his first night, he was dropped off at midnight, and given a few instructions. His job was automatic; it only required an overseer. Then he was left to himself, and when an officer returned an hour later to check on him, he was gone."

SC: First night on the job!

MB: He went over the fence, and a change of clothing was provided by a still anonymous friend. I might add, that most of the residents around Soledad, are families of prison guards. They are not noted for giving changes of clothing to black convicts who come to their doors: between midnight and 1:00 a.m. A car gave him a lift to the Bay area. Another convenience! Amanda de Normanville, who reportedly visited DeFreeze at Vacaville, "was suspected of giving him refuge after he escaped from Soledad." (13)

An intelligent man escapes from prison. Ordinarily, he would assume that the authorities would be looking for him. He would certainly not associate with people who had been known to visit him in prison. He would try to avoid contact with these people. Russell Little and Robyn Steiner had corresponded with the Department of Corrections about DeFreeze.

DeFreeze did just the opposite of what you might expect. He phoned his pals in the Berkeley-Oakland area immediately. They housed him. He associated with his "tutors" from Vacaville, who had various part-time jobs in the Eight months after the killing of Oswald, Jack Ruby begged Chief Justice Earl Warren, Senator Gerald Ford, and CIA attorney Leon Jaworski, to give him a chance to tell what happened in Dallas. Ruby realized that if his words were not heeded, "a whole new form of government would take place." He said, "Because of the act I committed, there would be massive killings and violence. Needless to say Jack Ruby was never given the chance to tell his story; he died shortly after the interview."

DeFreeze was fully aware of how to get out of jail, where to go, and how to live for almost a year, without being arrested. He was provided with homes, food, weapons, transportation, and companions. At the Berkeley Library, they copied drawings of a seven-headed cobra, used in the S.L.A. literature, which had also been used as a symbol by black CIA agent Ron Karenga and the L.A.P.D.

Russell Little, a close associate of DeFreeze, and well-known by the Department of Corrections, both at Vacaville and Soledad, was arrested on charges of killing Dr. Marcus Foster on January 11, 1974. Patricia Hearst was kidnapped on February 5, 1974. The law enforcement officials had three weeks in which to link suspect Little to escape DeFreeze.

The proof of a giant conspiracy in this case, is the fact that no police went to search for Little's or DeFreeze's other contacts in the weeks before the Hearst kidnaping. They had talked frequently about Dr. Marcus Foster while "inspecting" inside the prisons. Yet nobody broke into the various Bay Area dwellings

People's Park Plan May Get Rector's Name

The latest twist in the continuing saga of People's Park is a recommendation from a firm of consultants that the Regents of UC Berkeley should go ahead with plans to build a 238-unit housing project on the site, and name the complex after James Rector, the student who was killed by police during the 1969 People's Park War.

The report, which cost $28,000 was prepared by Gruen, Gruen and Associates, of San Francisco, a firm that has come under fire from opponents of the University's scheme as being too market-oriented to prepare a report on the human and environmental issues involved.

The consultants' report, billed as a preliminary environmental study, calls for a slightly scaled-down version of an earlier plan which would eliminate the proposed 63 studios, which students are not interested in.

Much opposition has been voiced since the University announced plans for housing on the 2.8-acre site, which has been used as a free parking lot and public park after a crowd tore down a chain-link fence there just three years ago.
Local residents feel the proposed housing complex would cause traffic congestion and an overcrowded residential area with nowhere for people to play.

The consultants acknowledge the symbolic importance of the site but propose that UC could "mitigate the negative impact" of eliminating the park by naming the housing project after James Rector. It will be interesting to see whether the Regents go along with such a cheap and cynical gesture.

CINQUE CALLED POLICE PATSY

by Sgt Pepper

Gen Cinque has been charged with being a member of California's intelligence police network and under the personal direction of Att Gen Evelle Younger.

This charge was made by Donald Freed, author of the book EXECU-TIVE ACTION and student of establishment assassination conspiracies.

On KPFA Tuesday night, Freed flatly stated that Younger "three times" held up the extradition of Donald DeFreeze, who is alleged to be Gen Cinque of the SLA, because of "the hysteria on the part of state police officials to have Black agents for penetration."

Freed claims Cinque's file "has been removed" from state offices and placed" in the safe of a watch-captain" along with the files of those two Black escapees from San Quentin two weeks ago.

Within the past months, four Blacks somehow have been able to "walk away" from California institutions when, previously, Blacks had seldom even been allowed to be near a fucking place they could "walk away" from in the first place.

"For some time, DeFreeze worked with the LA police intelligence network," Freed went on, speaking under the sponsorship of a group which brought Louis Tack-wood in from the cold and helped him publish his expose of the LA police under the pocket-book title
The Glasshouse Tape.

Freed said Younger is "now getting a bit apprehensive" on how "his agent is operating"--and that explains our Att Gen's recent statements, and the FBI's warrant out on Cinque.

Freed also indicates that the SLA activity is planned by the establishment against Black and left organizations. "This is the meaning of the SLA bank holdup" in San Francisco, he said.

He also felt that the Black Panther bust Tuesday was the first one to come down under this planned program of police-raids and harassment. Curiously, however, Bobby Seale, in a press conference, and Elaine Brown--both founders of the Panthers--were mute on this point.

At a press conference Tuesday, both Seale and Brown stressed the "political nature" of the police bust, in that the Black Panthers are already planning their next Oakland political campaign.

"We got 36 percent of the vote in the last election, and the city is afraid of what we might do in the next election," said Seale.

Nowhere in all their remarks was the word "SLA" ever mentioned.

In the broadcast remarks of another assassinationologist, Mae Brussell, she stated Monday (before the Panther bust) that the SLA was a "CIA-planned operation to destroy the Black movement in America."

Around the walls of Berkeley however, the SLA is Number One on the Hit Parade. "Don't Vote SLA" is a recent slogan, along with photos of Tania Patricia Hearst with the slogan: "Tania
We Love You."

weapon? There was a similar incident in the Watergate case. When the first piece of scotch tape was taken off the door at the Watergate Hotel by security guard Frank Willis, a member of the robbery-bugging team put another piece of tape on the same door. This acted to their arrest.

SC: Do you think they were out to get busted? MB: It might be. Having two self-confessed "soldiers" in jail gave the S.L.A. more reality. It also linked the fictitious S.L.A. to the prisons, calling attention to "problems" which would be used to bring down more repressions upon innocent prisoners later.

After Remiro and Little were arrested, they were put directly into San Quentin, a prison, without being tried or convicted. This is unheard-of. Nobody goes into a prison that way. Normally, accused prisoners are held in a jail.

One of the big motives behind the Hearst conspiracy was to involve radical prisoners, and to suggest that those men, although behind bars, were having some influence on the violence in the streets. The script originally read that supposedly vicious black prisoners would average Foster's death, by killing Remiro and Little while they were housed on Death Row. But prisoners sometimes show more compassion toward their comrades, black and white, than prison guards and intelligence agencies want to believe. They all got along, and helped each other.

The government underestimates the intelligence of prisoners, hippies, and minority group members. When Remiro and Little found themselves in San Quentin, they realized what was going on. They were chained up at night; they were dragged past the gas chamber, on a special "hour," and were carried off by three carloads of FBI men for two hours to a "secret meeting place," without their lawyers present. Instead of being killed, Remiro and Little began to get an education. They ended up in the cells of some very educated and intelligent men, up on Death Row, who understood what was happening and who could sit and rap with them.

A very aware prisoner who is kept in one of the isolation cells in San Quentin has said: "My keepers put two people back here with me: The Foster mess, you dig? Anyway, they are some beautiful people, and there was no reason at all for the establishment to take them out of the Adjustment Center and put them up here, in the quiet cells, of all places. The officials don't like it, really, because all of us get along so good with each other. But you know how Victor Marchetti, who left the C.I.A. after sixteen years, is exposing some of their clandestine operations. He warned that the C.I.A. is already targeting on groups in this country that they feel are subversive." The specialty of Mr. Colby's C.I.A. has been to create chaos and social upheaval.

SC: What are the links of the C.I.A. and the "fictitious S.L.A." to the prison system?

MB: I have been studying political assassinations and conspiracies for ten years. By this time, I have an intimate acquaintance with all of these agencies; their personnel, their funding, their history, their dummy front organizations, and their methods of operation. For the past several years, I have broadened my research of conspiracies into the prison system. It is necessary to understand the use of prisons and prisoners to conceal political murders. The name "Hitler" is synonymous with prison, because without a sophisticated prison system, fascism would be no different from a democracy.

SC: But what would be the purpose of creating the S.L.A.?

MB: The overriding fear of the ruling class is that underdeveloped nations and third-world people have begun to demand that attention be paid to their basic needs, such as food, health, and education. At the same time, the population explosion means that more people must be "provided for" by the small handful that makes up the ruling class. To maintain power and what some people consider a "fair" degree of profit from their investments, whether in oil, minerals, industry, or agriculture, the elimination of large masses of population would mean they would have fewer people to deal with.

The average person would not permit or condone genocide, gas chambers, mass extermination, unless he felt personally threatened. Terror is purposely spread in the communities, by pitting blacks against blacks, blacks against whites, chicanos against blacks and whites, young against old, and prisoners against the communities on the outside. Decreasing the population by drastic measures, instigated through fear, begins to seem feasible and even desirable.

The Man Who Cried I Am, a novel by John Williams, includes what is supposed to be a National Security Council document on the systematic planned genocide of all blacks in America. (6) Black leaders today fear, and with good reason, that the "King Alfred Plan" is not fiction.

Prices up to a point where it is becoming more and more difficult for people to feed themselves and their families. "Famine" is a word that couldn't be used in polite society to refer to conditions in democratic, freedom-loving America, but it is easy to see how these conditions could be pushed slightly further, to the point where it would become impossible for large masses of people to obtain food. We seem to be straying from the subject of the Hearst kidnapping.

MB: Keep in mind that the Hearst script is only the beginning. Wait and see what follows. The poor were lined up for food. The food was thrown at them. A suggestion was made by Governor Reagan that they should be fed "boilism." The stage is set for looking at hungry people and insulting them for their lack of "appreciation" . . . and acceptance of bags of cabbagees disguised as steaks!

SC: Did the FBI know where Patricia Hearst was all along?

MB: The FBI has been behind every domestic conspiracy for the past thirty years. The intelligence agencies provided the safe houses.

Following that, he can committed suicide. I believe that's long way to committing violence. purchase of the weapons trip to Hawaii, and a conspiracy in this case. investigation was very hard room for doubts hanging. The pattern has been to expect more kidnap murders. They can get all, not media-related coverage. The first rappings. People are random, to spread the message is that no one princess or pauper.

SC: Another result might be that people that other people are who are considered no system could be picked.

MB: This serves as

THE poster means you are not a good person... some beautiful people, and there was no reason at all for the establishment to take them out of the Adjustment Center and put them up here, in the quiet cells, of all places. The officials don't like it, really, because all of us get along so good with each other. But you know how that goes."

When Remiro and Little realized they had become patsies, and that they had been used, they tried to get a message across to DeFreese. "Release Patty Hearst," Remiro and Little may have realized that the whole S.L.A. idea--the murder and the kidnapping--had been staged under the direction of intelligence agents. Lee Harvey Oswald recognized he was being framed 24 hours after his arrest. He lived only long enough to say, "I am a patsy" and "I didn't kill anybody." Remiro and Little wanted to prevent the climax of the plot from taking place: the murder of Patty Hearst. They got the message through, in spite of official obstacles.

SC: are you saying there is no such thing as the S.L.A.?

MB: The S.L.A. "army" was a fabrication of the C.I.A. to make a small group of people believe they had the support of radicals behind them and could become heroes. This entire production has been staged to create the impression that all clandestine intelligence operations, planned separately in India, the Philippines, Ethiopia, South America, Africa, Mexico etc., are one united radical front.

Some kidnappings actually do take place for political reasons. This has not yet happened inside the U.S.A.

The Hearst kidnapping can be recognized for what it is by the methods it uses; they are all part of every past C.I.A. operation. There is a tendency to simplify the culprits, such as trying to blame the C.I.A. alone for the Watergate affair, or other political assassinations and conspiracies. The fact is that the Pentagon, all branches of the armed forces, and the combined intelligence agencies work together in these plots. Extermination, murder, brain mutilation, electrode implants, and torture are nothing but a continuation of policies begun in Nazi Germany and imported into the United States following World War II.

'The Pentagon, all branches of the armed forces, and intelligence agencies work together in these plots'

Williams, includes what is supposed to be a National Security Council document on systematic planned genocide of all blacks in America. (6) Black leaders today fear, and with good reason, that the "King Alfred Plan" is not fiction.

Another secret plan has been revealed, titled "Heliotrope." The target date for this plan is 1976. This plan includes seizing control of Congress, the assassination of numerous Congressmen, and a complete military take-over. High-ranking Pentagon officials, the intelligence agencies, the Green Berets, and even the Coast Guard are involved.

The Senate Select Committee and other Congressional investigations have remained totally silent about James McCord's position in relation to the military departments that would be utilized for a police state. Capt. Richard L. Franz, Navy Reserve, said McCord was a member of the Office of Emergency Preparedness. This special division, which had fifteen other members, met monthly to develop a list of radicals and contingency plans for censorship of news and U.S. mail in the "event of war." That did not rule out civil war.

"Turnsole," identical to the "King Alfred Plan," calls for rounding up nonwhite people and eliminating them. None of this would be possible without associating large masses of the population with violent acts. Any person who is more than one quarter nonwhite will be exterminated. This means the extinction of all Mexicans, Indians, Blacks, Latins, Orientals, and people of mixed blood.

SC: The romantic and obviously artificial style of the S.L.A. talked about uniting all kinds of people: Blacks, Indians, Chicanos and so on. Do you think this was done to associate all these groups with kidnappings and murders, in order to justify their extermination later on?

MB: Yes, and the media will continue to spread these messages of fear until we expose these early para-military operations for what they are.

SC: To spread terror, make people distrust each other, and deliberately create the conditions for a police state... it is difficult to believe that such planning and executing can be going on. This type of activity is so far outside the sphere of most people's lives and desires as to be almost unthinkable.

MB: Just read your morning paper, and see what is taking place in India, Ethiopia, Africa, Southeast Asia, and South America. There are food riots in India, Ethiopia is exporting food, while at the same time, one million Ethiopians are starving. If the Ethiopians are eliminating huge masses of their population, we could do the same thing. One article in this morning's paper stated that the " famine in Ethiopia is bringing prosperity." You might even say we are helping to test out the process. If we allow these things to happen, we will follow their example in a short period of time.

With scarvilles of food, water, and energy, riots and murders begin to take place that seem to call for punishment of the most "violent."

the agents, the weapons, and the funding. The fictitious S.L.A. "army," numbers 25 people, at most. And it is not an army at all. Their salaries, their cars, their mimeograph machines, and their cyanide bullets have to be paid for by the same military agencies that funded Oswald, Sirhan, Bremer, James Ray, and other conspirators. It takes seven or eight hundredings of cash before it reaches the hands of many and varied agents. Some are in the army; others are teachers, or prisoners, or landlords; others work voluntarily, not knowing they are part of a larger plot.

SC: What was the role of the media in the Hearst kidnapping?

MB: From a P.R. point of view, it was beautiful to abduct the daughter of the famous Hearst family, known for their newspaper chain. Because she was a member of the Hearst family, Patty's kidnapping is front page news all over the country. It costs $30,000 to buy one minute of advertising, but they got all the publicity for their United States-funded terrorism free.

Reg Murphy was kidnapped because he is the editor of the Atlanta constitution. Ben Maudenburgh, of Akron, Ohio, is the publisher of a newspaper. On March 6, 1974, a group calling itself the American Revolutionary Army made an extortion threat to WJW-TV and WAJR-TV, in Cleveland, threatening to kidnap Maudenburgh and his son, and demanding that $2 million be given to "feed the poor."

The average working person probably wishes he could afford to hire a bodyguard too, but will probably be glad to settle for "free" police protection.

MB: The Shah of Iran was mentioned in one of the early S.L.A. communiqués. The purpose of that was to link the oil rulers to U.S. and international terrorist groups. With former C.I.A. chief Richard Helms now stationed in Iran, many provocateur actions in the Middle East and Europe will be associated with the S.L.A. in San Francisco. Listing the investments and the worth of Hearst's objects and possessions has made other greedy feudal lords even more anxious to protect their fortunes from the public. International police will continue to discredit the poor through planned acts of violence, while multiplying the weapons which guard fortunes and investments.

SC: Where does Donald DeFreeze fit into the Hearst conspiracy?

man a new identity in the California prison system in 1969?

MB: A "Black Cultural Association" (BCA) was "formally recognized" by prison officials at Vacaville in 1969, when "tutors" from the community were allowed to come into the program. Various newspaper articles state that the purpose of the "tutors" was "to help inmates with academic subjects--and to introduce new subjects, dealing with black culture, such as black and African history." The "tutors" from the outside community were to help black inmates "understand themselves" and prepare for outside relationships when they were released.

DeFreeze, sent to Vacaville on a 6-to-14-year sentence, and an important member of the new Black Cultural Association, was hardly thinking about, or eligible for, parole. After his conviction on charges of stealing weapons and shooting a policeman, there is no possible way that DeFreeze would be encouraged or permitted to get revolutionary training while in the California prison system.

In those days, Chief Warden Nelson at San Quentin was saying, "No one can shake hands with a man who has his fist clenched over his head."

And Raymond Procunier, Director of the California State Department of Corrections, proudly announced, "If we've got a group out preaching revolution, and we think it's dangerous, we lock them up." (9)

Why would the California prison system, hell-bent on murdering all radicals and creating conspiracies to separate and segregate potential leaders, begin teaching Maoist doctrine and revolutionary ideas to a new recruit in Vacaville, of all places? And why bend DeFreeze's and Thero Wheeler's ears with talk about Dr. Marcus Foster, the evil black school superintendent in Oakland, when DeFreeze and Wheeler were not eligible for parole for many years?

Since 1961, J. Edgar Hoover had been sending memos to all the top FBI leaders around the country, ordering them to disrupt any potential racial movements and to prevent the emergence of a black Messiah who would be able to unite his people. (10)

SC: What kind of tutors would be instructing prisoners in radical politics?

MB: White racists--what other kind? Who are Remitto and Little? Who is "Willie the Wolfe"? Who is Colston Westrook, the black man who have increased following the Hearst kidnapping. A spokesman for the Wackenhut Corporation said that thirty-eight requests for information about protection had been received in a 24-hour period, as of February 25.

In Lauderdale, Florida, on February 22, as a result of the kidnapping of Reg Murphy in Atlanta, Georgia, "uniformed police and armed members of the Lauderdale Police Department walked with several golfers in the Jackie Gleason Invitational Classic." Plainclothes policemen were also reported circulating in the galleries at the golf tournament. (12)

'These methods of ordering behavior and erasing memory, following these acts of murder has to be exposed'

George Wackenhut, head of the Wackenhut Corporation, put it so well: "Those days of the open, relaxed American way of life are over."

SC: Is that what the Patricia Hearst kidnapping is all about?

MB: Exactly. There was a mass migration of at least eight out-of-state people to Berkeley. Emily and Bill Harris, college graduates, migrated to Berkeley from Indiana, in the fall of 1972. Angela and Gary Alwood also migrated to Berkeley from Indiana at the same time. California prisons were exploding with racial violence and imported provocateurs. Why were out-of-state agents allowed to stir up more trouble? What social and political background did these people have to enter the prisons? What were their qualifications? What were their motives? All these white "migratory birds" were involved in "helping DeFreeze get his black education." MB: White racists--what other kind? Who are Remiro and Little? Who is "Willie the Wolf"? Who is Colston Westbrook, the black man who headed the Black Cultural Association at Vacaville? DeFreeze, also known as "Cinque," described Westbrook, his co-worker and teacher, as "a member of C.I.A. intelligence, and part of the deadly Phoenix program in Vietnam. The similarities between the terrorization going on in Asia and what is now happening in the San Francisco Bay area are too striking to take this charge lightly. Clarence Colby, now Chief of C.I.A. operations in the United States, formerly headed the Phoenix program in Vietnam. We can expect the planned terrorization of the U.S. population to escalate rapidly.

Westbrook was mistrusted by even the straight press when he met them for an interview. He served seven years in the military, three in the Army, and four in the Air Force, including four years in Korea. He told the Daily Californian that in 1965, he went to the American Embassy in Tokyo to "try to get some veterans benefits," and was offered "ten grand to go to Vietnam." He spent five years in Vietnam and Cambodia, "doing all sorts of things." When one reporter asked him exactly what he did in Vietnam, he said, "I was working on contracts for an architectural firm."

The Watergate exposures documented how Miami architects were offered huge amounts of money, all from the C.I.A., to come from the White House, in exchange for crucial plans of room structures, and particularly air conditioning vents, related to the rooms where the 1972 nominations would take place. Government can be overthrown and regimes toppled if palace entrances are known and sealed off. They suddenly cropped up in the California prisons; they all lived near each other, and after their assignment was over, they simply melted back into the woodwork, going on to other cities, other jobs, other schools. The media said they "vanished."

This reminds me of another white "do-gooder" who was involved in the untimely and tragic death of prisoner George Jackson at San Quentin. Stephen Bingham provided the excuse for what was to be a bloody shoot-out, following his visit with Jackson. Bingham was last seen, after leaving San Quentin, visiting with his uncle, Woodrige Bingham... who served in the U.S. Navy, with Naval Intelligence, and the O.S.S. (Office of Strategic Services), the forerunner of the C.I.A., from 1943-1945. Were there military connections behind the long imprisonment of the victims of this conspiracy? Louis Tackwood, in The Glass House Tapes, tells of the role of the L.A.P.D., military, and law enforcement agencies in prison conspiracies.

Now, a few years after George Jackson's death, the military and the Department of Corrections are once more bringing in white people, under the guise of friendship. When they all go back to where they came from, minority and other prisoners are left with the painful loss of the few privileges they had.

While in prison, Donald DeFreeze was told he could become a hero to the poor, oppressed minorities. He was surrounded by military intelligence.

When Jack Ruby was arrested in Dallas, Texas, following the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, a document was found on the seat of his car. It was a pitch on "ferocious" written by Warren Carroll of the C.I.A., for H. L. Hunt's Dallas radio program, Liveline.

Around the time that Kennedy died in Dallas, Jack Ruby had been in the company of two known hypnotists. One of them was CIA agent David Ferric, from New Orleans. The other was Billie Somebody in law enforcement finally decided to "use" Donald DeFreeze. He was convicted on various charges in 1969, and sent to Vacaville prison on a 6-to-14-year sentence. Donald DeFreeze received extensive psychological testing. He comes from a broken home, has been on the street since he was thirteen, and is divorced. He is highly intelligent, he understands law, and represented himself in court. The L.A.P.D. reports describe him as "a man who lacks an identity."

The criminal conspiracy section of the L.A.P.D., described by Louis Tackwood in his book, The Glass House Tapes, sent DeFreeze to the California Medical Facility, at Vacaville, which is famous for its behavior modification programs. Since DeFreeze had been certified by the L.A.P.D. as a man who "had no identity of his own," the behavior modification people at Vacaville decided to give him one. They profited him after Ruchelle McGee, a student of law, a black man who is serving time at San Quentin prison. DeFreeze took the name of "Cinque," a black slave leader, which was also McGee's chosen name for himself.

Westbrock said he had a "personal line of communication with the Premier of Cambodia." Donald DeFreeze and Thero Wheeler, black prisoners, must have been proud of their elite instructor, who chose to visit them every week, twice a week, for two years. "Newsmen present were puzzled by Westbrock. Some thought it was just an ego trip. Others went away with all sorts of uncomfortable suspicions." (11)

Willie Wolfe came from Pennsylvania in 1971, but was not known to have any interest in blacks before he went west. Russell Little and Robyn Seiner migrated to Berkeley in the fall of 1972, from Florida. Watergate didn't begin to expose the extent of espionage operations from that state. Florida's former governor, Claude Kirk, ran a campaign a few years ago from Miami, which included threats to "break the University of California."

The day after Ronald Reagan and Claude Kirk were elected Governors of the two states, they met for lunch in Los Angeles. On the following day, Clark Kerr, President of the then-outstanding University of California, was fired, with absolutely no notice, and no severance pay. Kirk was also the first Governor in the United States to hire a private police force. He used the same Wackenhut group whose contracts

SLA SET-UP?

PANTHER BUST SEEN AS STAGE
OF RENEWED POLICE PLOT

by David Armstrong

The bust of 14 Black Panther Party workers in an East 29th St. "precinct house" in Oakland earlier this week takes us back, as though through a political time-warp, to the days then the Panthers were being periodically jailed and shot for their activities. The fact that charges were dropped "pending further investigation" on the day of arraignment makes the bust all the more bizarre.

Even the page one photo in the Chron--printed in the same issue as their breathless "Girls of the SLA" feature--was a familiar proto-type. Rows of ammunition and automatic weapons supposedly confiscated in the house hulked wickedly against the white background of what looked like a sheet spread upon the floor. That photo went a long way towards resurrecting (or trying to) the image of jive-macho violence the Panthers have been working to shed in Oakland with their community organizing projects, electoral efforts and survival programs.

The bust also raises the possibility of a renewed pattern of widespread police harassment against the Black Panthers. Clearly the Panthers feel that it's more than a possibility.

Chairman Bobby Seale describes the raid as an attempt to "drain and discredit" the Panthers, adding that it was "the same old political agent-provocateur operations." Panther members in the past were frequently arrested and charged with possession of weapons such as machine guns, "but no machine guns ever showed up in court" in those earlier trials, Seale said.

At least on Panther ally--Don Freed of the Los Angeles-based Citizens Research and Investigation Committee--feels the raid was "in part a response to Black Panther Party publications that link Cinque of the SLA to undercover police work." The Black Panther, the party's weekly newspaper, printed a cover story in its April 13 issue "strongly suggesting" that Cinque, also known as Donald DeFreeze, has been operating in California with police protection.

automatic pistol. This gun's serial number established that it was one of the guns acquired in the burglary of the war surplus store in 1967, strongly suggesting that DeFreeze was supplied this gun (and probably others) after their confiscation by L.A. police."

This time DeFreeze was jailed. He was sent to Vacaville for a short time, then to Soledad, where he escaped on March 5, 1973, by simply walking away from a minimum security section of the prison where a guard left him alone to work on a boiler.

SLA communiques of the last several months have bitterly attacked the Panthers as penthouse revolutionaries, while law and order forces in Oakland have attacked them from the opposite end, portraying them as dangerous firebrands. In actuality, retort the Panthers, the law and order types are afraid the Panthers could win power in Oakland next year. Legally.

That is the primary reason for the raid, according to Bobby Seale. The East Oakland house contained the names and addresses of 3,000 precinct workers who have already been organized for a campaign to elect five city council members and two board of education members next spring, as well as voter registration records from last year's mayoral campaign when the Panthers had only a third as many workers. A campaign such as the one planned for next year would cost a minimum of $300,000, which is, coincidentally, almost identical to the bail money originally needed to free the 14 prisoners.

The 14 busted Panthers are not "name" people frequently in the public eye, but they are, according to Seale, key workers in several of the party's survival programs. And they were busted by up to 50 Oakland and Berkeley cops, not nine as reported by Berkeley Police Information Officer Richard Berger. Panther spokesperson Elaine Brown further stated that the arresting officers had only an unsigned warrant when they came looking for a Leonard Kolar, who doesn't live there.

At least on Panther ally--Don Freed of the Los Angeles-based Citizens Research and Investigation Committee--feels the raid was "in part a response to Black Panther Party publications that link Cinque of the SLA to undercover police work." The Black Panther, the party's weekly newspaper, printed a cover story in its April 13 issue "strongly suggesting" that Cinque, also known as Donald DeFreeze, has been operating in California with police protection.

Because of the Oakland raid, Freed released what he says is information gleaned from official sources, showing that DeFreeze is an employee of the Criminal Conspiracy Section of the Los Angeles Police Department, a program Freed describes as a pet project of California Attorney General Evelle Younger. Younger retained DeFreeze as an agent, Freed says, despite reports that he was "a homicidal maniac," because of a pressing need for agents in the Black community.

The Black Panther further supports Freed's assertion by reporting that the state of California has consistently refused to extradite DeFreeze to New Jersey, where he has been wanted "since 1965 to face charges of kidnapping, extortion and assault with a deadly weapon."

"The first known act of connivance with California police by DeFreeze occurred on Dec. 6, 1967," reads The Black Panther report. "DeFreeze set up a crime partner, Ronald Coleman, with a telephone call and led police to a cache of more than 200 rifles and automatic pistols in Coleman's apartment. The guns had been stolen from an army surplus goods store in Los Angeles."

DeFreeze and Coleman were released on probation, however, and although he was later "picked up carrying a fully loaded semi-automatic M-68 nine mm rifle," DeFreeze did not go to jail. Two years later, DeFreeze tried to shoot his way out of a bank after trying to cash a stolen check.

According to The Black Panther, "The gun DeFreeze used in this shootout was a .32 caliber Beretta.

The 14 busted Panthers are not "name" people frequently in the public eye, but they are, according to Seale, key workers in several of the party's survival programs. And they were busted by up to 50 Oakland and Berkeley cops, not nine as reported by Berkeley Police Information Officer Richard Berger. Panther spokesperson Elaine Brown further stated that the arresting officers had only an unsigned warrant when they came looking for a Leonard Kolar, who doesn't live there.

Officer Berger said the raid stemmed from a complaint by Michael Foster, 21, a former West Berkeley Panther, who said he was beaten last Monday night on Berkeley's Sacramento St. by three men, one of whom he identified as Kolar, a BPP member. Kolar wasn't at the East 29th St. address when the police came calling, but the other 14 were.

They were charged with possession of firearms, marijuana and cocaine, radio equipment that could monitor police calls, "a bloody baseball bat" and, of course "conspiracy." None of this could be proven at arraignment time, as District Attorney Baldwin admitted, but the DA left the Berkeley courthouse Wednesday afternoon with promises of more to come.

TERMINAL POT CASE

Don't smoke pot in SF's Transbay Terminal. Don't believe politicians who tell you the marijuana laws aren't being enforced.

These dreary caveats were re-imprinted April 13 on a gay activist waiting for a late-night bus home to Berkeley. The white gay-male, whose appearance is so feminine that stangers sometimes think they see a woman, met and rapped with and shared one reefer with a black male. Perhaps the appearance of this friendly couple offended the police. At any rate, the gay was busted for possession of one (1) marijuana cigarette.

Nostalgia? The Fifties never ended at Transbay Terminal, thanks to Alioto.
