Washington, D.C.

Gentlemen,

Both Pelmer Williams and Mr. Midgeley have read this book. They found it "fascinating". I am sending Mr. Williams a copy separately.

The Preface, which they did not see, explains its appearance in this form and at this time. They did not see the appendix or the similar data at the ends of the appropriate paragraphs. They did see the Postscript, but not the few additions of related material.

I hope you will have an interest in this, for I still want to attract expeditious and responsible regular publication, and, until then, some form of distribution other than mail.

There is no telling where I'll be or what I'll be doing for the coming week, for I shall after distribution of press copies be trying to place the book in stores. If there is any further information you'd like, please phone. My wife will be home most of the time.

May I call to your attention as I did to Mr. Williams, that the book focuses on the Report and the staff, not the Commission and its members. I believe this to be both right and important.

The Altgens picture is owned by AP. I paid for the one-time use only.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
