Personal and confidential

Dear Mr. Williams,

It was considerate of you to take the time you gave me last Monday when he were busy, and I do appreciate it.

You stayed busy on Tuesday when I called to tell you the contents of the Postscript I have done, a copy of which is enclosed. I'd appreciate it if you keep it with the book. Its contents will reveal why I want nothing said about it now. I have a photocopy of the material quoted. I have examined everything referred to. In itself this document is, in my opinion, a major national disgrace and scandal.

As soon as you have finished with my book, if you anticipate no immediate need for it, I'd appreciate its return by insured mail. I am getting inquiries from abroad and just had to tell a major outlet I'd send a copy as soon as I had one.

If you are, as I hope, interested, either now or for the future, please let me know, for I am now optimistic about making the arrangements I have so long sought. And if you'd like to keep it long enough for Mr. Midgeley to read it, please do so.

I'll be glad to show you or him the originals of everything quoted, all of which was properly obtained, and to answer any questions either of you might have.

Sincerely yours,

Harold Weisberg
