telligence appeared today to tling back and forth downtown "I need clearance," Mr. Hall be headed for a confrontation to look at."

with the Ford Administration The White House had no ial in it." At Mr. Pike's request over its attempts to obtain top that the committee planned to to subpoena the documents. secret national security doc-issue the subpoena. A White uments.

mously today to subpoena this over before they took that East war would take place, two documents—the National step."

Security Council directive that That has been the procedure convicted there was not going the convergence of the convergen in intelligence circles, is so Buchen or Roderick Hills, Prest to hear the balance of Mr. highly secret that members of idential counsels. the Senate Select Committee

From these sessions have sion.

Intelligence agreed to look

The second of the sessions have sion.

The second of the sessions have sion.

items.

"But we are not going to on this particular documetn, Mr. Pike continued. "You're

By NICHOLAS M. HORROCK talking about the document that set up the entire N.S.A. WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—The it's one which all members are House Select Committee on In-entitled to see without shuttelligence appeared today to thing back and forth downtown to look at "I need clearance," Mr. Hall the headed for a confrontation to look at "I need clearance," Mr. Hall and the Department of Defense official response to the news the committee voted 11 to 0 ments.

House aide said, however, "We clies had been sharply divided over whether the 1973 Middle created the National Security that Senators Frank Church, to be a war and another be-Agency, a 22,000 employe Democrat of Idaho, and John agency that directs electronic G. Tower, Republican of Texas, agency that directs electronic G. Tower, Republican of Texas, chairman and vice chairman the conflict was between milibreaking, and a 1970 study of Defense Department intelligence capabilities.

According to a White House aide, the first document, dubbed "nonskid number 6" of the Senate committee, have met privately, in one case with President Ford, in terms of what the information in the two Senators have met privately, in one case with President Ford, in terms of what the information meant," Mr. Hall said. The committee voted in mid-day buchen or Roderick Hills, Pres- to hear the balance of Mr.

on Intelligence agreed to look at it on government premises and not retain it for the Senate records. The aide said this same records. The aide said this same arrangement had been offered to the House committee. Representative Otis G. Pike, Democrat of Suffolk, who is chairman of the House committee; said he was aware that the White House had made this offer before his committee was all Otis Pike, I'd move the Moteover, he said, the House committee had agreed sources suggested attempted military coups. The ligence system," the source said.

Several sources suggested suggested staffs ources. The committee intelligence agency officials in closed session, and there was no official statement on what they said.

The committee, responsible staff sources said, has not yet resolved the question of whether the source said.

Several sources suggested attempted military coups. The subpoena may prompt the Administration to take Congressional investigation committees to the mat on the issue of their access to national secrets. A House source, said, "Either way, we win, they lose. I can think of no way they can refuse to give us the very orders that created the intelligence system without looking terrib-

Differences in Panels

Several Capitol Hill sources believe the House committee is far more able to take an issue into court than is its sister committee in the Senate. A court confrontation over Congressional access, essentially an issue of executive privi-lege, could consume valuable investigation time for a Senate committee already delayed in its schedule.

The House committee appears to have less of a preconceived investigation plan and schedule and is going where the leads take it, these observers say.

The issue of subpoening the documents arose today as the House committee heard testimouse committee heard testi-mony from Albert C. Hall, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Intelligence. Mr. Hall was asked for "nonskids" during the testimony and said he had not brought it.

Mr. Hall also testified that

He declined to say whether Hall's testimony in closed ses-

House committee had agreed to the arrangement on other that the House committee's subpoena may prompt the Adbe negotiating with Mr. Nixon's Washington lawyer, Herbert Miller.

House Panel Demands

Security Charter