

Howard, Jim Lesar was here for several days in his temporary bachelorhood. We worked on various projects. In a week or so he will be moving into a home he has just bought - from a former secretary of J. Edgar Hoover. Before leaving he asked if I have anything on a certain foundation. I gave him what I had. In doing it I said the subject would make a good book. He said he'd like to do it. He knew Jerry had had my file. I told him I had suggested exactly that to you and that if you still want to do it, I had given you my word that you could have what I have. Jim will have an office in his home. As soon as he files the necessary appeals papers for Ray with the 6th circuit, he'll have some free time. I don't expect a private practise starts off with a boom...The is the ribbon. A piece of paper stapled in place reverses it nicely, thank you. Thank you also for the Bishop... oaned Jim what I've not finished reading because Bud, who is not a criminal lawyer, represents McCord. Bud's Congressional experience is at the moment more relevant. TRIAL for Jan-Fed, Vol. 9, #1, had a series of articles on (abuses of and by) grand juries. It also deals with immunity that immunizes and doesn't. I know you have little time for reading, but I think it might interest and inform you. If you do not get it before you are here, I'll probably have it filed under Legal Rights...Lil is still deep in taxes. Best HW 4/5/73
