Dear Mrs. [REDACTED] lano:

Your letter of July 8 arrived this a.m. just as I was leaving for Washington to return late tonight and to leave about daylight tomorrow for New York. The material is most welcome. I have glanced at it but hastily.

The other things to which you refer in your letter I would also welcome.

We have reached the same conclusion by different means and I am looking forward to a chance to study your material. By coincidence, it is exactly the subject on which I have been working for the past month when what things I have to do with WHITEWASH permitted. I shall write you as soon as I return and have had a chance to examine your material carefully.

Other liberties were taken with the photographic evidence about which I will inform you when my work is complete. By the way, how do you place reenactment frame 210 at frame 208 and are you satisfied (as I am not) that Shaneyfelt accurately located a) Willis, b) Zapruder, but especially Willis?

In haste,

Harold Weisberg
