

April 25, 1967

Dear Mrs. Castorr,

Thank you very much for your letter of April 24.

If Colonel Castorr no longer has a copy of WHITEWASH II, I enclose another, for which there is no charge.

Copying the documents to which I referred will take both time and money. I am willing to expend both if he so desires but unless he does it serves no point.

Should the Colonel wish to talk to me on his return, as I would like to talk to him, I will be available until May 19th, when I leave for a short trip. However, I will not pester him. It is entirely up to him. Whether or not he now does, I think he will ultimately come to realize that this could be to his interest.

It is kind of you to reply in the Colonel's absence, and again I thank you for the thoughtfulness.

Two of the documents I referred to refer to you, both in terms I think you will appreciate. One quotes Father McChenn and the other Mrs. L.C. Connell. Each speaks of what they take to have been your sincere interest in helping the Cuban refugees in the Dallas area.

Sincerely yours,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

Your certified letter of April 20, 1967 was delivered to our home last Friday. I was not there when the mail arrived. As your letter required a receipt and signature it was returned to the post-office. A yellow slip was left by the postman with a notation saying to call for mail after 3 P.M.

When our 12 year old son came home from school he and I stopped by the post-office. It was raining so I waited in the car while my son took the yellow slip and presented it for the mail. He was asked to sign his father's name and also his own name then was given your letter.

Later that evening when we returned home I opened your letter and read it. We do not have a copy of your book WHITEWASH II. Some months ago Mr. Leon Loeb, whom I have met, did loan his (your) book to my husband. I presume this book was returned to Mr. Loeb.

Colonel Castorr travels extensively in his work. He is out of the city at the present time. He will be away for from 10 days to two weeks. I have no knowledge of the documents to which you refer so I cannot comment on this matter. However if, as you suggested, you wish to send copies of documents quoted in WHITEWASH II please feel free to do so.

I trust you will understand my position in answering your letter which was addressed to Colonel Castorr. I did not wish to leave your letter unanswered for this period of time.

Yours very truly,
Mrs. L. R. Castorr
