Dear Friend,

Since 1990 it has been our pleasure to offer you reprints, books and tapes about important historical and contemporary issues that are neglected by mainstream academia and the popular press. Enclosed is the latest Prevailing Winds Research catalogue, with many new items of interest added to those in our earlier collection.

But this is far more than a catalogue. It is also the premiere issue of Prevailing Winds Magazine. In it you will find many hard-hitting investigative articles that probe deeply into contemporary matters that might otherwise soon become "hidden history." It's our effort to help prevent the over-hyped "Information Superhighway" from becoming a Misinformation Sidewalk, maintained by a few property owners and traveled only by devotees of conventional wisdom and practitioners of "sensible" social and political criticism. Quite simply, Prevailing Winds Magazine probes issues and controversies with the same investigative zeal and exhaustive research that characterize items found in the Prevailing Winds Catalogue. Some of the authors of our catalogue's outstanding historical works will also address contemporary matters in the new magazine.

We are embarking on an ambitious agenda here in Santa Barbara, the details of which are described overleaf. Our initial goal was to make available the books, reprints, audio & videotapes in our catalogue. Our latest initiative is publishing the enclosed magazine, which we hope will ignite public controversy over significant issues that the conglomerate mass media have let slide down the memory hole. We know from previous communications that you are interested in Prevailing Winds' activities and products. Please continue that interest, and support our continued operations by subscribing to Prevailing Winds Magazine.

We are at a crucial historical time when America's future is up for grabs. No one of us alone can overcome the conspiracy of silence that stifles public awareness and discussion about important developments affecting our nation and our personal lives. But with our magazine and your support, perhaps together we can raise some informational hell, scare the media barons into performing their public duties, and show courageous investigators that there is a substantial audience seeking much more than formulaic, happy-face journalism.

Thanks for your time and consideration. Enjoy this premiere issue with our compliments.

Sincerely,

The Staff at Prevailing Winds

PS: If the magazine does not interest you, please pass it along to a friend. On the other hand, if you like what you read, please consider gift subscriptions for friends or family. You'll find a subscription form on the reverse as well as on the inside back cover of the magazine.

More About Prevailing Winds

Since World War II, news-media reliance on government pronouncements has left millions of citizens baffled about recent history and current events. The USA increasingly suffers from concentration of media ownership, homogenization of news content, and a dismaying conflation of news and entertainment. Many people simply do not trust what they read and hear. This culture of mistrust promotes apathy, self-defeating cynicism, preposterous theories and supernatural beliefs.

A citizen's primary duty is to establish the truth, for truth is a necessary prerequisite to the establishment of justice. Yet the first task now seems so daunting that the latter work often goes undone. We at Prevailing Winds intend to make that task, if not easier, at least possible. We intend to deepen public awareness of just what has happened to our country and our world over the past 50 years. We will support the growing number of truly independent writers, journalists, thinkers, investigators and media personalities who want to inform the citizenry about this nation's true past and future. Accordingly, our mission at Prevailing Winds is to distribute, commission and publish works that probe beneath patriotic pieties, textbook orthodoxies and sensationalist headlines.

We intend to establish the Deep Politics Research Center, where journalists, students, authors and the general public can access hard-to-find documents, data and historical accounts. Already, Professor Peter Dale Scott has endowed the Center with his research files on intelligence history. Col. L. Fletcher Prouty and Mary Ferrell have entrusted us with their collections. We now seek financial support to copy, index and digitize these and other collections so that the Center can become a fully-functioning public archive.

Some books are too politically controversial to get published. Thus, we have founded Open Archive Press to issue significant, scholarly works on the secret history of the last 50 years. Our first publication was Crime And Cover-Up by scholar-diplomat Peter Dale Scott, Ph.D.

Years ago a new world order began to form, but most of us still don't know what it is. Many of those who do know don't want us to find out. Our long-term goal is to end this ignorance. Reaching this goal will be a difficult and exhilarating journey; please join us on it.
