According to testimony at his trial in Los Angeles, Sirhan killed Kennedy with a bullet to the brain, fired "approximately one inch away from the senator's ear."

Charach insisted, however, that "none of the bullets from Sirhan's gun hit the senator." Asked how it was that no one saw any assailant but Sirhan, Charach blamed "the confusion and chaos."

On a more modest level, Charach maintained that evidence he has developed shows a "bungling" of the ballistics tests by Los Angeles authori-

He said that serial numbers in court files suggest that while one .22-caliber pistol was taken from Sirhan after the slaying, bullets test-fired from another gun were identified in court as matching slugs that hit Kennedy and two other men in the hotel pantry way where the senator was killed three years ago.
