May 23, 1968

.

Dear Hal:

I do owe you an apology for not having written; my only explanation is that my life has been considerably shaken by my marital situation, which means financial and emotional; I still cannot see daylight.

The enclosed literature will probably irritate you at first; it is, however, a most meaningful move on Turner's part; with Kupferman out of the New York House race this time, the only man advocating truth at this juncture is this man.

1 am sitting in Advisory for the McCarthy campaign here in California; YES, he does know of your writings (and others); YES, he does know the Warren Commission was a fraud; YES, he knows of Administration interference with Garrison's investigation; NO, he has not yet decided how to approach the matter (if at all) during the continuing campaign; his closer advisors are wholly ignorant of the subject, so he must look outside their vision on the matter; I propose to be the intermediate, if he'll let me.

I did write you some 5 weeks back, but discovered both the original and carbon beside one another in my files last night; it is a rambling two-pager, which in effect says that my sources for backing our efforts have dried up completely; they are confused and frightened by the recent political machinations around this country; when "conservatives" get in that condition, they re-act!!! You better than anyone should know this by experience. I won't argue the point about my "deal" with your silence with Gold of KGO amounting to my guaranteeing to pay off their inevitable default; what I meant was that you meeded the airtime, and any confrontation would have kept you off the station, period; it was more this than your other observation; true, I would love to pick up their renig, but my resources just don't provide other than the most meagher of existences at present; I'm sorry if you thought otherwise; but, I'll keep trying...

The Eleventh Hour has long passed in this whole assassination issue; you had better gear yourself to the worst; "they" are not going to turn loose of what they have murdered to attain; I am no longer naive; but I am neither frightened nor dissuaded from doing what I practically can.

My best to your lovely wife; hang on to her, Hal; a man without a country need not be without a good woman.

Personal Regards.

John