Dear Mr. Cooper,

Bill Neichter has sent me copies of some interesting records in the deposit of the late Senator. I'm glad to have them now and they will be included with all my records when they go to Local Hood College. (Bill can also tell you that my typing can't be any better.)

It is fine that you have taken the time for this worthwhile effort and for the preservation of that much more of a critical time in our history.

We are all in your debt for it.

Some of the other deposits are either entirely inaccessible or largely withheld, Dulles' the former, Ford's the latter.

I think that there ^{should be} were other of Senator Cooper's records relating to his work on the Warren Commission. I hope that at some point they surface and can be added to the deposit at the university.

There were important discussions and ~~controversies~~ controversies not reflected in what Bill saw and on the other extreme, there were simple letters the offices of Senators did not ordinarily throw away.

Like the one with which I sent him a copy of my first book, which then was the only book on the Commission. It does not seem likely that he would have had no interest in it at all.

His reaction to factual criticism would be, I think, of interest.

So, thanks for all you have done and I hope you are able to locate more and add it to the archive.

With all best wishes,

Harold Weisberg
