

Dear George Costello,

6/21/94

Thanks for your letter and the check. I did not intend for you to pay for Case Open or I'd have enclosed a bill. But thanks for that, too.

What you quote Tink Thompson as saying is a large understatement. Without out doing all I could have the rough draft of what appeared bohtailed as Case Open, now being retyped, is at page 742 and it is not completed.

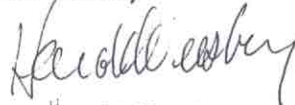

Jim Tague is a friend of mine. I encouraged Aguilar to speak to him. After he did Jim phoned me to confirm what he told Gary: Fosner did not interview him.

I hope Gary has the time when he is in Washington to come up. I cannot travel. We have never met and I think he is a fine person.

We return what you sent for Case Open. I hope you do not mind.

May I suggest that when you read Post Mortem you begin with the transcript of the 1/22 executive session? It is short. It begins on page 475. I think that what you learn about the commission from it will help your understanding.

Best wishes,

Harold Weisberg
