

"Behold
how good
and how pleasant
it is
for brethren
to dwell together
in unity."

Amen. I am now prepared to offer this testimonial: Promise him everything but give him Pate' Cog d'Or (Lil's to us); The only pate' from which you don't have to recover.

Uji-no-Sato is subtle + gentle & courteous especially to one accustomed to the aggressive Parjeeling. Promise her Sivee-touch-nee but give her Uji-no-Sato.

Our discussion of Oskar will have to wait until we are jaw-to-jaw. I should warn you though that Betty is a far better judge of what is marketable than I am. I also agree that digressions can be the life of the party. I just don't dig your theme. But that may be me.

For the delicious remembrances & the confidence in our judgment many thanks to Lil + you +

BEST WISHES

for the

HOLIDAYS

and the

NEW YEAR

to Oskar.

Jae

Woodcut, "The Music Makers," contributed by the artist,
Jane Bearman Frances

Quotation is from the Psalms (Psalm 132 Douay Version; Psalm 133 King James Version).

Proceeds from these cards further the interracial work of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), 38 Park Row, New York 38, New York.

