NEW PERIODICAL OFFICE BLASTED

Caller Says Anti-Castro Responsible

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) — A hand grenade was thrown into the office of the Evergreen Review in Greenwich Village early Friday morning, blowing out the windows and starting a fire. The blast occurred at the office of the magazine, which is a vocal supporter of the Cuban revolution. Three windows were blown out and several people were injured.

Moments after the bombing, a man telephoned the Associated Press and said:

"We all will begin to commemorate the morning of the 26th of July. Commandos of the MNCC have attacked at 3:35 a.m. the office of Evergreen magazine."

The unidentified caller, who said he spoke for a newly formed anti-Castro Movement Nacional de Liberacion Cubano, said the Evergreen Review was a target because it is publishing Ernesto "Che" Guevara's writings and because of their position in the international community.

RIDICULOUS CHARGE

Barney Rosset, president of Grove Press Inc. which publishes the magazine, called the charge "ludicrous."

"It is unfortunate that insane people have to resort to bombs to communicate," Rosset added.

The building was evacuated in mid-afternoon after an anonymous caller threatened that the office would be bombed again.

The caller said the bombing would occur at 4 p.m. but the deadline passed without incident.

It was the 12th bombing or attempted bombing in the New York area since April 1961, with many of the victims being tourists or diplomats.

omatic offices of countries trading with Cuba.

Most of the blasts have occurred at night when no one was about. However, a daylight explosion at the Japanese National Tourist Organization in Rockefeller Center July 7 slightly injured a woman tourist and her daughter.

UNEXPLODED BOMB

There also have been an unexploded bomb planted in Newark, N.J., five bombings in Los Angeles, more than 30 bombing incidents in Miami and a new explosion Friday at a Mexican tourist office in Chicago, which had been bombed previously.

At the scene of the Chicago and Los Angeles explosions signs were left behind which read "Unite Cuban Power."

The man who called The Associated Press said his group was responsible also for bombs placed in the French tourist office in Rockefeller Center July 15, and at the Mexican consulate in Newark July 16. Neither of these devices exploded.
