

Dear Rev. Delaney,

2/21/90

God willing, I'll still be here for the fall semester and will be glad to speak to one of your classes. It is not safe for me to drive out of Frederick and I haven't since 1977, so I'd need a ride both ways. Because I live on a high level of anticoagulant I'd prefer to get there and back during daylight because a simple accident can be disastrous. I'll have to sit with my legs elevated, but that should be no problem. It would not be possible now because I'm recovering from open-heart surgery and I'm weak. But I'm willing. My seminars at Hood, by the way, usually last much longer than a class period and I'm up to that. Was, at least, the night before the open-heart adventure.

I've not spoken for a fee for so long I have no idea what they are. I leave that up to you, beginning with $00000.00.

All my records, by the way, are available to anyone. Hood students, who are nearby, have done some fine papers. You can have copies of anything you may want. Why not come down and take a look?

Almost any time is convenient because I'm almost never away except for medical reasons. I have an odd form of walking therapy each morning, sitting most of the time, and I'm usually home about 9:30-10:00.

If you'd like to bring any students, feel free.

One reservation for the fall: because I can't take my wife to movies, concerts or lectures we like not to miss the Orioles games and I like the Redskins. My wife is not fond of football but she now even scores the Orioles games.

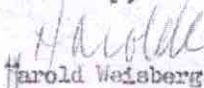

So, we'd rather not have your visit or my appearance coincide with them.

Have you been in touch with Dr. Gerald McKnight, history professor at Hood? He teaches a course on political assassinations and is familiar with what I have. All my records will be an archive there, in the new library for which they break ground this coming May. His home phone is 473-5639.

If you heard me speak at a civic group's meeting the probability is that I had to be brief and went into how government functioned rather than the nuts and bolts, which I left for questions, there being so much to cover it can't be adequately. Would you like something like that? With copies of some of those records for the students?

When you come, take Exit 7, turn toward Ft. Detrick, and take the first left, onto Shookstown Road. When you start going up the mountain you'll be in Shookstown. Kemp Lane and Bowers Road are at the bottom. The first road on the right past them is Old Receiver. We are about three city blocks then on it, 7627. Landmarks: at the fork keep left. On the right there then is a small, white frame house, next a larger single-storey brick house, with a large carport and a TV mast, then a patch of wood also on the right, our woods, and the paved lane at the bottom of the short, steep, S-curve hill goes only to our house.

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

Several years ago, I attended one of your lectures on the "Kennedy Assassination" and had the opportunity to talk with you. It was a great privilege since I am so aware of your pioneer work on searching for the truth.

For the last five years, I have been teaching a course on "The Kennedy Assassination" at Mount St. Mary's College.

I am writing to you now for several reasons:

- (1) to re-order a copy of Whitewash, one of the first books I read.
- (2) to order more of your books, as indicated in the order form.

I would like also to explore the possibility of your speaking at one of my classes in the fall semester. Would you consider this invitation, and if so, what dates are available to you? We would be willing to pay whatever fee you require.

At some date, according to your schedule, would it be possible to visit with you, and be educated more on the Kennedy Assassination? Any time that is convenient with you, I would be happy to accommodate.

Thank you for your consideration of these requests, and for your valuable work for those of us who have been directed by your work.

Sincerely,

James T. Delaney
