Dear Mr. Daggart,

Our price list is enclosed. Also enclosed is a bit about my current book. If your book store does not stock it, it can get it through its usual suppliers.

The questions you ask reflect how deeply concerned people have been so widely deceived and misled by too many of those who seek fame if not also fortune from writing books in which they write as though they were Sherlock Holmes reincarnated. If I say what you do not want to hear I owe you the truth. My current book begins by documenting the highest-level official determination not to investigate the crime itself. Thus there are no leads for private persons to follow and no answers to questions about the actual assassins, etc., except by those who are utterly lost and imagine and make up what they sincerely believe, most of them, that has no contact with reality. It also means that there is no reason to believe the government can tell us the truth, if by that you mean who did it.

If you are talking about the archive of The National Archives in which records are, it will not be in the future because it is and has been. I published documents I obtained there in 1966, in facsimile. It is a fiction that all records are sequestered unto 2039. Before illness forced me to curtail it I had filed a dozen of more lawsuits against the government under FOIA and obtained about a third of a million pages from the FBI alone. More records, however reluctantly, are being disclosed under the 1992 Act that supposedly requires full disclosure.

I know of no "withheld" assassination films. They are all available. I understand that Nix's daughter claims what was returned to her was not the original. The government avoided all the films it could, like Bronson's. You can't get copies of the government copies without permission of the owners to whom all have been returned.

I regret very much that so many people have been so misinformed and risk the possibility of offending you by the truth. As you will see in my books, if you get them, I avoid all theorizing and stick to the established official fact or use it to disprove it. My first book dates to 1965 and as of today I've not gotten any letter or call from any of <sup>those</sup> them of whom I am so critical in it complaining of unfairness or inaccuracy.

And all of those with all the theories were on the sidelines when I fought all those lawsuit the results of which some use and are welcome to. But most have contempt for fact and prefer what oozes from the murk of their minds.

I'm sorry if this disappoints you but it is the truth, the reality.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Weisberg,

I am writing to inquire about obtaining a copy of each of your self-published books on the assassination of President Kennedy. I located your address from the book "High Treason" by Robert Groden and Harrison Livingstone. Please advise as to the availability of your work.

I recently visited the assassination site in Dallas and became highly disturbed as I remembered the grief of the unknowing nation at that time. Since then, I have studied the numerous publications dealing with the event, which identify you as one of the most respected researchers of the murder. If you would be so kind, I would appreciate your responses to the following questions;

1. Are any of the principal conspirators still alive, especially those directly involved in the execution? What would be their ages and locations?
2. At this point, 32 years later, would requests from the public for the truth be heeded by our government, realizing that only 18 years remain until the archives are opened?
3. What have become of the withheld films of the assassination (Nix, Muchmore, Oliver, Arnold, Bronson, et al)? Do you think that a new request under the Freedom of Information Act could lead to their release?

I realize that you have no doubt been bombarded over the years with hundreds or thousands of these type of questions, and that you may be frustrated with the lack of action by our country's leaders, but I would be in your debt if you could state your opinion on the above. Thank you for your kind consideration of my request.

Sincerely,

Robert R. Doggart
