It will be revealed Teddy was not in Chappaquiddick car

PEOPLE who believe the worst about Sen. Edward Kennedy's behavior at Chappaquiddick will have to change their minds.

There was a massive coverup, but the truth will soon come out. And the truth is that Teddy Kennedy was not in the car with Mary Jo Kopechne when it went into the water. She was alone.

She was a very small woman and couldn't see well. That's why she made the wrong turn. She was too short to see over the steering wheel of that big car.

Kennedy was elsewhere at the time and knew nothing of the accident until the next morning when two boys came and told him his car was in the water.

Even if the truth comes out this year, Teddy will not be President or Vice President. He will continue in an important political role, working for things that are good for us.

This, I think, is because he has suffered a great deal himself. He may become a candidate in a future election, but his time hasn't come around yet.

JOAN KENNEDY: Although Joan Kennedy has not yet solved her drinking problem, she is definitely making some progress.

ETHEL KENNEDY: The widow of Robert Kennedy will think seriously of marrying in 1977.

MIDDLE EAST: There will be no peace in the Middle East until the end of this century.

AFRICA: If we follow Henry Kissinger's policies toward Africa we will be in a more costly war there — in men and money — than in Viet Nam.

Teddy Kennedy: "The truth will come out."

COVERUPS: The truth will come out about all the coverups we have had in the past.

We have the coverup of Pearl Harbor. That was just to protect one man, one man in the White House. Not President Roosevelt. He did not know about this.

But one man in power was able to protect himself at the cost of billions of dollars and millions of lives.

That's a tragedy far beyond Watergate. And then we have had the coverup of so many other things: the assassination of President Kennedy and the Bay of Pigs.

Worse, we will lose South Africa's valuable resources to America's enemies.

We must now face up to our actions in Angola. And our next big failure is going to be Rhodesia. I think Kissinger is in for a surprise, if not a shock, because I foresee that the Rhodesian government will take the initiative to carry the fight to its neighbors.

I foresee sudden flights of Rhodesian aircraft on missions of death over those neighboring countries which have unleashed guerrillas against Rhodesia.

Secretary Kissinger will rue the day he involved the United States in this sad and bloody conflict. The white government will lose inevitably, and it will be another catastrophe for the world.

It will be a sad day for all the people of Rhodesia, black and white, and for us, too. And then another country will fall.

But all of this can be changed. These are thoughts of men I'm picking up.

Joan Kennedy: "She is making progress."

Ethel Kennedy: "Thoughts of marriage."
