

Baltimore News-American

Paper Says IRS Tapped Phones

P.O.N. 4/14/76
BALTIMORE (UPI)—The Baltimore News American reported today that the Internal Revenue Service has been illegally tapping the newspaper's telephones. IRS officials denied authorizing any taps.

The newspaper says it learned of the eavesdropping from a source within the IRS when the source repeated to reporter Michael Olesker a telephone conversation between Olesker and Diane Schulte.

Miss Schulte is special counsel for a Maryland Senate committee investigating alleged illegal spying by Baltimore police.

IRS district director Gerald Portney said there was "no authorized electronic surveillance of any telephone at the News American." IRS regional inspector Emanuel Schuster said none of his men "would conduct an illegal telephone tap."

The conversation that was allegedly taped concerned written testimony Olesker was to present the Senate committee March 24 regarding surveillance tactics of the IRS and the Baltimore police department's inspectional services division.

"My source repeated the entire conversation," Olesker said. "He knew exactly what I'd said and exactly what she'd said."

Olesker said the source told him the IRS was "upset" by a series of Olesker's stories on the alleged use of illegal wiretaps and collection of personal information on citizens by the IRS.

The newspaper said Olesker asked his source whether it was possible Miss Schulte's telephone was the one being tapped. "No, they're upset by the stories you're writing," Olesker quoted the source as saying.

Free Tests Slated For Blood Pressure

Free blood pressure tests will be offered in D.C. during May in conjunction with "High Blood Pressure Month," the department of human resources announced yesterday.

The tests will be offered at 67 fire stations, community health centers, maternal and infant care clinics and the hypertension clinic at D.C. General Hospital. For specific times and locations, call 629-3456 at the human resources department.