Paul (Gary),

Here is the best copy I can make of the copy of Eardley's letter to Bud, because for some reason my machine doesn't make good copies of the Apeco copies. I must keep the clear Bud copy in case I need it for a story. If you want a copy of this make it, if you think Gary wants one, make it for him or send this for him for return for my Eardley file. I'm now starting one. I'll soon enough be needing it, for we are going to find him the center of all of this and what we have been facing.

The copy of my letter is an exact copy. They added the marks, and I think they may reflect significance. They also cut the top off in making the copy they sent Bud. The various lines at the bottom represent pieces of paper or other objects laid on to hide whatever was written or stamped there.

I'd prefer no further distribution at this point, for several reasons I do not explain with supper waiting me.

Sincerely,
