

The Washington Star

Portfolio

• Amusements

• Television

SECTION B

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1977

The Ear

ASSASSINATION DEJA VU . . .
Remember spunky Edward J. Epstein? He wrote his master's thesis on all the rum aspects of the Warren Report after the Kennedy assassination. It was published as a book called "Inquest," raised a great stink and then got ignored for years and years. Well, now he's toiling away on a Life of Lee Harvey Oswald. He's doing it for Reader's Digest Press. Hot rumor is that Clay Felker — remember Clay, he used to run the VV, it's such a teeny world — is to produce it as an NBC TV special. Ear salutes absolutely everyone, from its bulletproof bubble.