Dear Jim,

3/26/85

I've read the printed material received to to an earlier note. I have a few comments.

McCoy's Marseilles chapter is consistent with my recollection of what the USA was up to then (except that there was a wider and deeper intrusion into French domestic affining not relevant to what he was saying). Contemporaneously there was quite a commotion over interference in labor matters. Irving Brown developed into the man in charge of labor and related operations in at least Europe and Northern Africa (he also had access to the diplomatic pouch) and he was the equivalent for his territory of Serafino Roumaldi for "atin America.

Crile began his Outlook piece on Conein quoting CIA sources on how crazy Conein was but he has little on Conein's craziness in and for CIA. Some might be of interest to you.

The copy of the Weicher memos in an article contains no source or author and I do not need oither. I was particularly interested in Colson's fixation on Richard Ober. You may recall my interest in him and his antecedents and activities. That Hunt was facing large packages of material to Ober is provocative. Ober then, I think, was Angleton. I thinks also that he was forced out with Angleton and along with some or all of his then staff, including people like Jeanne Davis, shifted over the NSA.

Best.

In the FBI's Conducting Research In FBI Records, their listing of King assassination records includes nothing we did not force disclosed and does not include all we did, as best I can tell. This may have significance so many years after we filed suit.
