Texas Kickbacks Kick Up Again

By Jack Anderson

More than two years ago, we reported that Rep. Jim Collins, the resplendent Dallas Republican, had been squeezing salary kickbacks out of his

The accused, however, is not Congressman Collins. Instead, his salary to Haag. it is 33-year-old George Haag, his former administrative assistant, whom the government has accused of arranging the elaborate kickback operation in Collins office.

The congressman, it seems, has been cleared of all-blame. His name is mentioned only in ment. passing in the government's 8page indictment of Haag. The prosecution has no plans even to call Collins as a witness.

This is curious. For he acknowledged to us during our original investigation that he was fully aware of the kickbacks but didn't know they right.

Washington Whirl

Scandal Silencers - Two years ago, the Washington Monthly published a catalogue public figures to worm out of a scandal. The list is long: Sudden illness, blanket denials, limited admissions when the evidence becomes overwhelming, lapses of memory, for an official investigation by a sympathetic tribunal and introduction of dubious expert testimony. Now author James Boyd has come up with a sequel for the magazine's next issue showing how almost all the standard ploys were used in the ITT affair. Boyd concludes that the old rules seem work. Result: Richard. under seal so that it would not Kleindienst was confirmed Attorney General and the scan-
