

When your Bureau is top drawer, these are the kinds of raves you get.

If anybody should know about the FBI it's Bernard Connors. He was a special agent for over eight years. Now, he takes all the knowledge at his command to create a novel of suspense. The backdrop is, of course, the Bureau. The plot, to take over and control the most influential government agency. The result, a chilling combination of agents, counteragents, power struggles and the incredible bureaucracy and fumbling of our FBI.

"How can anyone not enjoy this?—A quick-paced account full of twists and surprises that offer a wry and somewhat terrifying view of the FBI."—GEORGE PLIMPTON

"Don't Embarrass the Bureau, especially the first 50 pages, will teach you as much about the FBI as any non-fiction book, and it's a lot more exciting."

—VICTOR NAVASKY, author, Kennedy Justice

"The novel proves as irresistible as it is frightening."
—Chicago Tribune

"Story has more twists and turns than a tangled wiretap, plus an electrifying surprise ending."—The Cleveland Press

"A fast-paced . . . spy thriller . . . an intriguing tale of international espionage, murder, female impersonation and FBI infiltration."—Chicago Sun-Times

"A fast-paced, exciting espionage story which demands being read from start to finish."—Women's Wear Daily

"A unique tale of internal espionage."—U.P.I.

"A compelling, fast-moving story. . . It has humor, suspense and even sex."—Dayton Daily News

"A lively and unusual story of intrigue with some fascinating FBI background . . . fast-moving, suspenseful, and provocative."—Denver Post

Fifth large printing! $6.95

DON'T EMBARRASS THE BUREAU

a novel
by Bernard F. Connors

Bm BOBBS-MERRILL