Dear Mr. Weisberg:

This is in reference to your letter of April 23, 1977 regarding your request for personal information. The Privacy Staff requested the Passport Office to search its records for any information pertaining to you. The search of those records surfaced the enclosed document which is being released to you in its entirety.

The Passport Records also indicated that you were issued a passport on April 5, 1948. However, your passport application could not be located.

Pursuant to your earlier requests, the Privacy Staff coordinated searches of the Personnel Records, the Security Records, and the Central Foreign Policy Records. All documents retrieved by these searches were released to you on December 17, 1976. With the release of the enclosed passport document, the Department completes its processing of your request.

Subsection (d)(2) of the Privacy Act (5 U.S.C. 552a) permits an individual to request amendment of a record pertaining to him. If you decide that the enclosed information about you is not accurate, timely, relevant, or complete, you may request amendment of it. Enclosed is a copy of the Department's procedures for requesting amendment to information under the Privacy Act.

Sincerely,

John S. Pruden
