OF THIS SIGNIFICANT AND TIMELY COLLECTION!

The voluminous files generated by the F.B.I.'s investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy are being made widely available on microfiche to researchers.

The release of the F.B.I. Files on the Assassination of President Kennedy will permit researchers to probe in depth nearly every aspect of the controversy which to this day surrounds the assassination of President Kennedy.

And -- equally significant -- for the first time researchers can follow in detail the day-to-day inner workings of the F.B.I.

To introduce this timely and much publicized collection, which would cost $8,000 if it were to be obtained from the F.B.I., Microfilming Corporation of America is making a special offer.

Enter your order before March 31, 1978 and save $100 on the purchase price. Until then you can acquire this valuable material for $695. The regular purchase price after March 31 will be $795.

In compliance with the Freedom of Information Act, the F.B.I. released the first 40,000 pages of its investigative files on the assassination of President Kennedy in December 1977, and will release the final 40,000 pages in January 1978. The microfiche edition of this file will include both parts and is scheduled for subscriber delivery in early April.

The F.B.I. files begin with a recounting of the tragedy in Dallas in 1963 and include memorandums containing confidential reports passed among high government officials in the days that followed. Also included are letters from ordinary citizens expressing sentiments ranging from sorrow to hatred of the Kennedys.

Among the other materials are hundreds of memos from field agents describing their pursuit of the thousands of clues and leads that were given to the F.B.I. One of these leads was the now controversial letter written from Cuba to Oswald reportedly linking him with the actual killing of Kennedy. The paperwork relating to this matter and the letter itself are part of the microform collection.

Also included are memos from F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover. One was written several hours after the President's death to then Attorney General Robert Kennedy announcing the apprehension of Oswald.

Another memo to his staff regarding a conversation with Warren Commission counsel J. Lee Rankin quotes Hoover as saying: "...I urged strongly that we not reach the conclusion Oswald was the only man."

It is through these files that researchers, students and journalists can gain new insight into the day-to-day workings -- for more than 10 years -- of the F.B.I. as it handled one of its most important missions.

Sincerely,

Donald J. Ellis
Director of Marketing
