Spy Suspect Asks Curb On Evidence

By Maurine McLaughlin Washington Post Staff Writer

Col. William H. Whalen, a former top Pentagon intelligence officer charged with selling defense secrets to Russia, testified yesterday that he had been drinking befor he took an FBI-administered lie letector test.

stooped, Gray-haired and the retired Army officer limped into an Alexandri Court witness chair to try to explain if they were not freely given, why statements he made to Whalen said he "glanced over the FBI should be banned them" but did not read them from use at his trial.

Speaking in a low voice and thought appearing confused at times, work out ail right."
Whalen told Federal Judge On cross examin when he submitted to the lie detector test and signed some 50 statements.

Called Verbal Evidence

Whalen, 51, is charged with the conspiring to sell defense Chiefs of Staff, secrets to the Russians for Agents Testimor $15,000 between 1959 and 1963. The Government contends the as evidence is vital to the case against him.

EBI agents yesterday said Whalen did not appear to have the test.

Government attorneys go so far as to say that the statements are admissions of Whalen's guilt and that if they entirely.

The statements, made in 1963 and 1964, were prompted by the "friendliness between the people (FBI agents) and myself," Whalen said yesterday. Whalen said yesterday at the pre-trial hearing that he dinner but declined to eat

In addition, Whalen said dence of intoxication. FBI agents led him to believe FBI agents led him to believe Whalen said, however, that there would be "no accusa- he became ill during the ex-

Advised of Rights

FBI agents had advised him of cause by making the statehis constitutional rights, Whal-ments because he felt he would en said, "I believe they did be aiding the Government and in the first interview." Asked clearing up accusations against why he had signed statements him "to protect my family."

WILLIAM H. WHALEN "... wanted to help"

carefully. "I trusted them and everything

On cross examination Gov-Oren R. Lewis he had been ernment attorneys attempted drinking a pint to a fifth of to show that Whalen, as a whisky a day and was suffer-former intelligence specialist, ing from heart trouble, multi-ple scleroisis and arthritis procedures. He was in intelligence work from 1958 to 1960, when he retired from the Army after a heart attack. From 1957 to 1960 Whalen was an intelligence specialist at Pentagon for the Joint

Agents Testimony

Agents testified that Whalen admission of his statements broke down under the lie detector in September, 1963. They said he made certain disclosures after being told that an investigation of his been drinking at the time of finances revealed he had been in debt for years but had suddenly acquired a large sum of money.

One agent at this point contended that Whalen blurted are not admitted the case out daming admissions, the against Whalen might fold details of which are being withheld at the request of Judge Lewis.

The agents said this admission came during a 12-hour stretch of questioning, punctuated twice by rest periods. He said Whalen was offered made the statements because more than half a sandwich and he "wanted to help the FBI." more than half a sandwich and that Whalen showed no evitions or arrests from informa-tion I was giving." amination and broke out in a sweat. "I was afraid I would have another heart attack."

He also said he was moti-Asked by Judge Lewis if the vated to "help the FBI" be-