

JDW: Re Spectro, NAA problems: the frustrations HW 5/4/75

In an effort to get something on the wire from your distant coast, as sometimes happens, I'd spoken to Kevin, who was to phone me 10-11:30 p.m. our time. After a long day I gave up and went to bed close to 1 a.m., when he phoned to apologize for not having taping facilities available and for being overloaded on the weekend shifts. He'll try tonight about 8-10 p.m. our time, which is too late for the east coast a.m.s and eliminates ~~my~~ the purpose that could have been served.

But if I could keep going for more than 19 hours I guess my recovery is good!

Today I'll have to figure the minimum in documentation I'll need for the right ?s and try to think of at least one reporter who may be there at the relatively early hour of 9:30 a.m. and who might ask a few of the right questions. The less I have to do the better it will look. JL has to stay away because if he ever opens up on what Bud has done on the Ray case...and the temptation will be terribly great. He has agreed to stay away.
