

4/6/69

I had ruined a postcard, so I typed this and taped it over. As you can see, the unimaginative clerks returned it as unavailable.

I have since finished going over the Dell file and copied everything I am not certain he has through Dick, and a few of the things from you. I do not have your complete file, for you gave me no copies of some, like your notes on conversations with them, etc. I have also found a Dell admission of sales over 300,000, expressed in terms of a percentage. In affidavit form.

Because he doesn't need it right now and because of the cost of registration, I'm holding this until I can gather other things together.

Hope you are having a good holiday.

Sincerely,
