

District attorney candidate Harry Connick today produced documents which he said show that Jim Garrison received at least 30,000 shares of stock in the bankrupt Louisiana Loan and Thrift Corporation and then used the shares to insure a $25,000 loan from LL&T on April 28, 1967.

Connick, at a press conference at his headquarters, produced:

-Three stock certificates from LL&T made out to "Jim Garrison" on April 28, 1966. One certificate is for 3,000 shares. The number of shares involved in the other two certificates are unclear but appear to be for 10,000 each.

-Connick also exhibited two blank stock powers of attorney dated April 28, 1967, transferring 30,000 shares of LL&T common stock to LL&T. The numbers of the stock s purportedly transferred and the numbers of the stock certificates match. Both are signed by "Jim Garrison."

-The said promissory note for $25,000 dated April 28, 1967, purportedly covering a loan from LL&T to Garrison bears interest at six per cent. The note is for one year. The copy produced by Connick bears a signature which Conick said is Garrison's.

IN RESPONSE to Connick's charges, Garrison released this statement through Asst. DA James L. Alcock: "I have never had any stock whatsoever in LL&T. The election is only two days away and Mr. Connick is getting desperate. I wouldn't be surprised at anything Mr. Connick or the newspapers might say in the next 48 hours."

Activities of LL&T, which operated from 1966 until it went bankrupt in 1968 and imperiled the savings of depositors, have developed into a major scandal. A federal grand jury has indicted five men on 16 different charges in the case, including indictments against state Atty: Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion and state Rep. Salvador Anzelmo of New Orleans.

Garrison said in an interview on Oct. 10, 1968, he has never owned stock in LL&T. Garrison said at that time he almost bought stock in the company but backed out of the deal at the last minute after forming doubts in his mind about the arrangement.

Connick said today the stock certificates, powers of attorney and the $25,000 note indicate that Garrison held stock in LL&T for at least a year before he signed the note.

"AT THE VERY least, the people who lost their life savings in LL&T deserve an explanation of what these documents mean," Connick said.

At his press conference, Connick said the documents "emphasize the logical question: "Why hasn't Mr. Garrison ever investigated LL&T?" Connick said that depositors in LL&T and their attorney went to Garrison's office in October, 1968, after the com-See GARRISON- Page 10

pany went bankrup. an investigation.

"Why didn't the invesu, tion ever take place?" Connick asked.

Connick said he could not reveal where he got the documents.

ASKED IF he is certain they were legitimate, Connick said, "I am only certain that they deserve an answer. If Mr. Garrison did not receive the shares of stock on April 28, 1966, let him say so in my presence at a public debate. If Mr. Garrison did not sign for a $25,000 note on April 28, 1967, let him say so in my presence at a public debate."

Connick said Garrison has been unwilling to face tough questions during the campaign.

Further, Connick said that if the power of attorney document is genuine, this would mean that Garrison acknowledged ownership of LL&T stock.

Connick said, "If I am elected, you may be certain that I will investigate the dealings of LL&T, which Mr. Garrison has not done for reasons we can only guess at." Many records pertaining to the LL&T case are in the files of the Federal District Court here. A check showed the documents Connick produced are not among these. However, much other material related to the case is in the hands of the U.S. Attorney and has not been made public pending the trial of those indicted.
