The Dwyers gave Jeff Sharp's office keys to Herminie and Bill, his papers. They seem to have been interested in only his own writing, largely self-owned, as described.

I think they should be examined again the material of pertinence to our work, particularly what Bill did not write himself.

If possible, it seems to me it might be worthwhile to examine each of Philip's papers from friends & associates. See what he or others may have told them about the camp, Ferre (any connection?), Alfred 66, etc, and what he knew from Dion.

Particularly, if he is around, Paul (Navel, Davis)
