

Dear Gerry,

7/21/92

Especially because I am drafting a book much of what I do, like this response to your 7/16, is twixt and tween, after an early lunch and before leaving for the dentist's. When I'll probably doze off again while he finishes the job where a tooth broke off that he began with a root-canal job through parts ~~xxxx~~ of which I did doze off!

Dave has not only made valuable suggestions for "Twenty-Eight Years of Silence," he has been retyping it on his computer! Lil is still nailed down with taxes for which there were extensions.

I've drafted all the first half and yesterday I mailed Dave the first chapter of the second half. But before I go much farther I must rearrange the Breo article not to jump around and not to waste words in duplication.

Not much new on the sleep problem. I had to discontinue the C-PAP machine that forced air into the nostrils because it gave me a cold and dried the nose out too much. I have a humidifier for it now but that time I tried using it it made no difference. I suppose I'll have to wait until the cold clears entirely up.

I hope your cousin outgrows the influence of the assassination trash he's been trusting. Not easy to find anything else, is it?

You have a different idea of the meaning of "research" than most of those who submit articles to The Third Decade. It is published by Jerry Rose, the State college in Fredonia, NY, near Buffalo. Mostly it is huffy theories. I do not see it but I'm sent copies of some of the articles.

Glad you've enough on Specter! Look forward to seeing what you write about him.

Oddly that Sun reporter was here only briefly. His article was for a regular feature of the Sunday Sun's magazine, "His ion accomplished." So his interest was narrow, he knew what he wanted to know, and I doubt he was here two hours.

Dave though what he read is "powerful," especially the chapter with the book's title, ticking off how the opposite of silent they've been all these years. As you recognized, they are sitting ducks. And I'm shooting.

Excuse the haste. Best took all,

Saw ENT doctor 7-22. Staph infection, not cold, and he expects it to clear up under antibiotics.

Dear Harold,

July 16, 1992

Just this past weekend we arrived back in Spartanburg after a two-week stay with my mother in Milwaukee. Unfortunately, Hanh-Trang was not able to go because of limited vacation time at the clinic where she works. Claire and Nicholas enjoyed themselves. We took in the zoo, museum and they got to play with some of their cousins they do not see very often. We also took a side trip to Stevens Point. My brother still lives in a town nearby. We had Dave Wrone and some other old friends out for a barbeque. It was good to see him, although I wish I had had more time to visit. He mentioned that you are at work on a book on the JAMA interview. A couple weeks ago I got a chance to read it more carefully, and I found it astounding in its inaccuracy. Given what you published in Post Mortem alone, I imagine you could write a full book-length expose. One of the things I find so disturbing about that interview, among many other such examples, is the blatant deceit that is practiced. And, apparently, these people are able to sleep at night.

During our stay in Milwaukee I had an interesting discussion with the adopted son of one of my cousins, who I had not seen since he was about 4 yrs old. Well, he just graduated from a small college in California and did a senior thesis on the Kennedy assassination. I have enclosed a copy of the title page. He struck me as being very knowledgeable and mature in his approach, although I cautioned him on some of the sources he used for his paper such as Jim Marrs, High Treason, Penn Jones, Gary Shaw, among others. He did cite Post Mortem and Whitewash II, although curiously not Photographic Whitewash. He was also impressed by a journal I was not familiar with called, "The Third Decade: A Journal of Research on the John F. Kennedy Assassination". He will be going to New York University to start a graduate program in history. He seemed open to some of the things I said -- trying to re-orient his approach to focus more on evidence of the failed investigation. He was generally impressed with Stone's film. I sent him a few things to try to set him straight on that score, and I also encouraged him to become more familiar with the work that Dave Wrone has done, since especially since he plans to major in history.

During this past week I have finally begun to sit down and pull together a few things regarding Specter. That article I copied from your files certainly showed him at his evasive best. Sometime before school begins I plan to write up one or two short pieces and provide ample documentation.

I liked the short piece from the Baltimore Sun on you and your files. Although there could have been more substance, at least it did a good job of outlining what your main approach to the assassination has been. I imagine the reporter spent much more time with you than is reflected in the article.

I hope you are making progress on correcting your sleep disorder. Our regards to Lillian.

Best,

Gerry
