LET THE WASHINGTONIAN DO YOUR DIRTY WORK.

We'll taste the pasta in every Italian restaurant on both sides of the Potomac. We'll find the best corned beef south of the Bronx. We'll see every movie and play, dig out the good shops and least crowded tennis courts, the best bars and bargains, and places to get away for a weekend. We'll profile the interesting personalities and tell you who's saying what and what's going on. In short, we'll do everything we can to help you get more out of living in Washington. Interested? Take a look at what we've been up to and on top of lately:

A HOME IS NOT ALWAYS A CASTLE. Sometimes it's a basement efficiency. Whether you hang your hat in a Victorian rowhouse or sunny split-level, The Washingtonian makes keeping it up easier. We've given hints for buying Furniture Without Tears, and How to Get Household Help. Need an extra bedroom? Don't miss our next Home Buying Guide.

AND GETTING THERE ISN'T ALWAYS HALF THE FUN. The Metro, Washington's new subway, won't be ready 'til 1980. But Contributing Editor John Corcoran is trying to keep up our spirits with a Bus Rider's Survival Guide. If all else fails, Call an Ambulance.

THE GREAT OUTDOORS. Is full of people running around in white. It's called the tennis boom and have we ever kept you in the know. We found 27 Tennis Clubs and 27 Clinics. Of course, we didn't stir Other Racquet Sports, Close-in Camping, and Flat-water Canoeing. Golf writer Joseph Gambatese talked to all the area pros about How to Improve Your Golf Game, and if you're still over 80, it's not our fault. THE FOURTH ESTATE. And we weren't talking about the Vice-President's. We were talking about Washington Post Editor Ben Bradlee, Maury Povich. And Douglas Kiker. We Rated the Radio Stations and got the Inside Story on Jack Anderson. Can Washington's Second Newspaper Survive? An upcoming Washingtonian gives some opinions.

KIDS, DARN IT, WILL ALWAYS BE KIDS. But they're also tax deductions. Take good care of yours with The Washingtonian. Our monthly Where and When column lists at least five new things to do with kids every month. Our Teenager's Survival Guide suggested places to go, what the problems are, and where to get help. Don't miss our annual Guide to Private Schools. POWER ON THE POTOMAC. That's a monthly department on what makes Washington tick. William Proxmire talked about power and his personal life. We looked Inside the Supreme Court and into The Dealing of Joel T. Broyhill. Joseph C. Goulden deals with theories about our country's political assassinations in the current issue's Gun Barrel Politics.

WINING AND DINING. Eating and drinking, too. Our dining and dining editor Charles Turgeon tells you where to go and where not to for good service, good food, and your money's worth. We told you Where to Eat Lunch for Under $2 and Where to Eat After 11 P.M.

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT. Our performing arts column reviews and previews area theater offerings. We asked Is Life Really As Bad As the Movies Say It Is? and told you All Those Rumors About the Kennedy Center. Jazz It Up, we said. It's easy with The Washingtonian.

WHERE AND WHEN. What are you doing this weekend? Check our Where and When column in its handy place near the front of each issue. It lists times, dates, and places of Music and Dance, Theater, Movies, Museum and Library Exhibits, Art Galleries, Events for Children, Sports, Restaurants and Nightlife. There are things to do for $1, 25¢, and even free.

BUT THAT'S NOT ALL. There was Tad Szulc on Inside the Intelligence Establishment. There was Marriage Washington Style: getting into it, getting out of it, and just plain muddling through. We Rated the Local Hotels, gave you an Insider's Guide to Georgetown and The Magic of Sonny Jurgen- sen.

LOOK WHAT'S COMING UP. Special sections on Annapolis and Old Town Alexandria. Making Your Office a Nicer Place to Work. A Drinker's Survival Guide. Finding a

Good Hospital. Reports on Moving to the Country and Crime in Washington. Our Annual Restaurant Awards. A Summer Entertainment Guide and much more. Keep in Shape with *The Washingtonian. An upcoming issue tells you where and how.

THE COMPLEAT WASHINGTONIAN. Knows a good deal when he or she sees it. And The Washingtonian is the best deal in town. Whether you live in Maryland, Virginia, or the District, we work hard to keep you informed, to save your time, your money, and your disposition.
